Dulles Says Suez Seizure Must Not Go Unchallenged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Friday night Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal cannot go unchallenged because this would "encourage a breakdown" of international law and order.

At the same time, Dulles predicted that a proposed 24-nation conference to consider the Suez crisis will succeed because it will invoke "moral forces which are bound to prevail."

He quickly added, however, that he gave "no commitments of any kind" at his recent meeting with British and French leaders in London as to what the United States would do in the "unhappy" event that the conference should fail.

Dulles made the statement in a nationwide radio - television address on which he was personally introduced by President Eisenhower to whom he had made a private report earlier in the day.

Dulles conceded that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser has a right to promote the welfare of his people "by all proper means," including the nationalization of domestic industries. And he added that Nasser "has done much that is good" in Egypt.

"But it is inadmissible that a waterway, internationalized by treaty, which is required for the livelihood of a score of nations, should be exploited by one country for highly-selfish purposes. . .

"The question is not whether something should be done about this Egyptian action, but what should be done about it."

Dulles said that some western quarters reacted to the seizure by recommending "immediate forcible action." This presumably referred to demands in Britain and France for immediate military moves to regain control of the canal.

But Dulles, who flew to London on Mr. Eisenhower's order Tuesday to consult with British and French leaders, said such use of force would have been contrary to the principles of the United Nations.

"It would undoubtedly have led to widespread violence, endangering the peace of the world," he said.

Dulles conferred for 30 minutes with Mr. Eisenhower at the White House. Dulles had radioed ahead a summary of his report and the President considered it so important he urged the nationwide radio-TV presentation to give the secretary a "maximum audience," the White House said.

Oil Talk Folds As Officials Fail To Agree

State, Federal Conferees Willing To Resume Parley

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Federal and Louisiana officials today disagreed emphatically over reasons for the collapse of negotiations aimed at clearing the way for oil development to go ahead in a disputed area of submerged lands off the Louisiana coast.

State officials told a news conference the negotiations were abruptly broken off by J. Reuel Armstrong, interior department official, after federal officials had insisted they disregard a 1956 Louisiana law.

Armstrong, who presided at meetings of the negotiators yesterday and this morning, later told a news conference "we did not ask them at any time to waive any provisions of their law."

Both Armstrong and the Louisiana officials told reporters they were willing to resume negotiations. However, Armstrong commented that from the appearance of things at the breakup of the meeting it didn't sound like they would be resumed."

Ike In Attempt To 'Rebuild' Republican Party

WASHINGTON, August 3 (AP) — President Eisenhower was reported taking concrete steps today to aid down-the-line GOP supporters of his legislative program as a part of his efforts to "rebuild" the Republican party.

In consultation with some Senate candidates efore they left Washington for home campaigns, the President was said to have held out the prospect he will give them what personal help he can before the November election.

The candidates understand that this help will be extended through warm endorsements voiced by Eisenhower if his campaign schedule takes him into their states. If he is forced to choose between areas he will visit personally, some of his all-out senatorial backers believe he will pick their states.

In at least one instance, Eisenhower has found the time since his return to work in the White House after his June 9 intestinal operation to pose for campaign pictures with a Republican senator who went down the line for his legislative program.

Most other GOP candidates who display pictures of Eisenhower and themselves will be showing somewhat outdated photos.

Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday one reason he decided to run again was a belief that the Republican party "needed rebuilding so badly."

Those who talked to the President recently say he has in mind what he has called the "liberalizing" of the party along the "progressive-moderate" line he has laid out in the past.

Associates said Eisenhower has regarded it of prime importance in this year's campaign to get into Senate and House races as many Republicans as possible whose political philosophy matches his own.

Coleman To Head 11 Southern States Bloc At Chicago

ACKERMAN, Miss., Aug. 3 (AP)—Gov. J. P. Coleman leaves tomorrow for Chicago to fight for a Democratic civil rights plank "acceptable" to the South.

The governor, whose party will boards the Illinois Central streamliner "City of New Orleans" at nearby Winona, will head up a 11-state Southern bloc at Monday's meeting of the platform committee.

Coleman, the only deep South governor on the platform committee, was elected chairman of the Southern states' committee members at this week's Atlanta "southern solidarity" caucus.

The platform committee will hammer out the statement of party principles to be presented to the convention a week later. If the 22-member Dixie bloc fails to carry the day in the platform

Air Control Head Finds No Violation In Arizona Crash

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—UP—The head of the nation's air traffic control system testified Friday he found no violation of any regulations in the June 30 collision of two airliners over the Grand Canyon when 128 persons were killed.

The testimony was given by David B. Thomas, director of traffic control for the Civil Aeronautics Administration, before an investigating panel of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Thomas said his inquiry showed the pilots of the United Airlines DC-7 and the Trans World Airlines Constellation apparently were adhering to all CAA and company regulations before the collision.

He added that the fact that the two planes were at the same altitude and scheduled to reach the same area at the same time was not the responsibility of the CAA because they were not flying on controlled air ways.

Thomas said the CAA has neither the funds, personnel nor equipment to cover all routes with the controls system in effect in densely populated areas.

Shortly before this accident,

Second Primary In School Board Race August 21

The attorney general, Jack Gremillion, has advised the Ouachita Democratic Central Committee that the second primary for parish school board race would be held August 21 instead of September 4 as first announced.

This change is due to a law passed in the last session of the state legislature.

The race for the school board seats is in Wards 3 and 5, with one seat from each ward at stake.

In Ward three, F. S. McVay and W. G. Worley will vie for the seat while Ward five (West Monroe) will have Charles G. Wall, Jr., and E. H. Busbice in the runoff.

Nationwide Steel Strike Terminating

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 —UP— The giant U.S. Steel Corp. Friday night signed an unprecedented three-year, no-strike contract with the United Steelworkers of America, signaling the end of a 34-day strike by the nation's 650,000 steelworkers.

Republic Steel Corp., the third largest producer, and Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. were scheduled to sign formal contracts with the USW later Friday night.

The Pittsburgh Steel Co. signed a contract earlier Friday, the first of the 12 major producers to sign. The Crucible Steel Co. concluded its contract with the union Thursday.

U.S. Steel employes 186,000 steelworkers; Republic's contract covers 46,000; J & L's, 28,000; Crucible's 13,000; and Pittsburgh Steel's 10,000.

The other major steel producers were expected to sign up in short order.

A spokesman for U.S. Steel and the union said maintenance crews will begin entering the mills Friday night.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's second biggest producer, was reported still snagged on one key issue.

An authoritative source said the issue at stake concerned the "past practices" clause which provides that any benefits workers received in addition to those called for in the contract would not be taken away by the company, if those benefits have become traditional over the years.

The U.S. Steel contract was signed by John A. Stephens, vice-president of "big steel" and chief industry negotiator, and David J. McDonald, USW president.

Some 650,000 steelworkers in 27 states have been idle since midnight June 30 in a walkout that already has cost about $2 billion in lost wages and production. The loss will be even greater before full production is achieved.

The decision of U.S. Steel and its operating subsidiaries to sign a new contract meant a quick end to the third longest steel strike in history. The industrial giant, which by itself produces more steel than any other country in the world except Russia, traditionally leads the way for the other firms.

The new contracts, as provided in the general agreement reached a week ago, will give steelworkers wage increases and other benefits totaling 45.6 cents an hour over the three year period.

Greek Cypriots Threaten To Murder Hostage

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Aug. 3 (AP) — The rebel Cypriot underground said today it intends to execute a captured British civil servant if three Greek Cypriots under the death sentence are not reprieved by noon tomorrow.

The ultimatum was contained in a pamphlet circulated in Nicosia by EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground. It identified the hostage as John A. Cremer, now retired, who has been missing since Wednesday.

Cremer, aged about 75, did not return to his Kyrenia home from his customary afternoon stroll that day. The EOKA pamphlet called him a "high ranking agent of British military intelligence" and staked his life against a reprieve for Andreas Zakos, Charilaos Michael and Iacovos Patatsos. Zakos and Michael are sentenced to death for their part in the ambush last December of British Maj. Brian Coombe. Coombe captured them after he killed a third attacker and his own driver was shot dead. Patatsos was sentenced to hang for fatally shooting a Turkish policeman last spring.

All three will be executed within two weeks unless the governor's executive council intervenes.

Cremer formerly was chief of the audit department of the British Cyprus government and retired some years ago on pension.

Clear And Warm Local Forecast

Clear to partly cloudy today and Sunday with only a few isolated afternoon and evening thundershowers was the official weather forecast for Louisiana last night.

Arkansas is expected to be clear to partly cloudy and hot Saturday and Sunday with a chance of afternoon or evening thundershowers.

The maximum temperature recorded at Selman field Friday was 95 degrees and the early morning low was 72 degrees officials said.

France Plans For Military Action In Canal

Peaceful Solution Is Sought After First Mollet Says

PARIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—French government leaders solemnly assured the National Assembly today they will "use every means" to defeat Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser's Suez coup.

Premier Guy Mollet and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, cheered by all but the Communist members, said the government is seeking every way for a peaceful solution but is preparing for strong military action if this fails.

Across the English Channel, the British government likewise worked at a double-barreled policy. It was calling up thousands of army reservists under a royal proclamation of "great emergency" and setting in motion the gears for a 24-nation conference to install international control over the Suez Canal.

But advance indications from Cairo were that Nasser would decline his invitation to the conference, called in London for Aug. 16.

Nasser broke off a vacation in Alexandria and returned to Cairo tonight to study the implications of the American-British-French bid to submit his July 26 nationalization of the canal to an international regime guaranteeing open passage to ships of all.

He went at once to headquarters of his Revolution Council headquarters and conferred with

Officers Quell Oklahoma Youth Demonstration

OILTON, Okla., Aug. 3—UP—Town Marshal Ben Clark said Friday "it's just lucky 12 or 15 weren't killed," in a lawless demonstration staged by about 100 youths here, armed with home-made blackjacks and leaf- filled pipes.

Nineteen of the youths were fined $25 and court costs Friday for unlawful assembly, and bench warrants were issued for five others who failed to appear. Charges were filed against another 15.

Clark said the gang, all males from 16 to 23 years old, invaded the town of 1,600 Thursday night and threatened to take command.

"I called the highway patrol, and they radioed for help in other cities," Clark said. "If other officers had't come in, it would have been bad."

Some 40 officers, firemen with hoses ready and volunteers from the local American Legion post finally put down the demonstration, which Clark blamed on a long simmering feud between youths in Oilton and Cushing, 18 miles away.

"I'm glad you called," Clark told a United Press reporter. "I want to see this in the papers.

"I would like for this to be brought to the attention of the

Georgia Committee Fails To Substantiate Buford Convicts' Cruelty Charges

REIDSVILLE, Ga., Aug. 3 (AP)—A joint legislative committee investigating mass leg-breaking of convicts at the Buford State Prison branch for incorrigible convicts said today that charges of cruelty and brutality at the state's "Little Alcatraz" have not been substantiated.

The legs of 36 convicts were smashed with 20 - pound sledges during a rest period Monday afternoon and five others were mutilated Tuesday. The prisoners were quoted at the time as saying they broke their own legs in protest against brutality and hard treatment, and they told the committee that brutality and cursing by the guards drove them to the act.

While a total of 41 prisoners suffered leg injuries, examination at the hospital of the state prison here disclosed that five merely suffered cuts and bruises but no fractures.

The statement said, however, that the committee did find that "profanity and abusive language has been used by the guards and the supervisors in addressing the prisoners," and "that some of the Tht witness, Mrs. Josefina Jimenez Villalon, testified before Dan Mood Jr., master in chancery named by the 98th District court of Travis county, for the special hearing.

There are two hearings under way. The second is before 49th District Judge R. D. Wright.

Mrs. Villalon said she cast her absentee ballot in the July 28 Democratic primary plus her husband's, her aunt's and that of Quirino Gutierrez, a city street department employe.

17-Year-Old Has Officials In Dither Over Rockets

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 3—UP—Husky Jimmy Blackmon, 17-year-old basement Buck Rogers whose "unguided missile" has the Pentagon in a dither, showed his handiwork Friday to Army Ordnance officers.

The officers from the Charlotte Nike (guided missile) plant will arrange to test the six-foot, six-inch rocket on a military reservation instead of the wide open spaces as Jimmy intended.

The furor created by the rockct has taken the prep school student who has "fooled around with science as long as I can remember" somewhat aback.

"I didn't meant to get anybody excited, I just wanted to test my rocket," he said.

Jimmy said he had "lined up" a 400-acre farm on the outskirts of this city of 150,000 as the testing grounds for the rocket, powered by liquid oxygen and gasoline and containing a fuel injection system.

However, a friend thought the test should first be cleared with the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The CAA, never confronted with a similar situation, tossed the matter to the Pentagon.

After some consulation, the CAA informed Jimmy that "it is our opinion that firing this device would be a violation of civil air regulations" as it might constitute a danger to air flight over the area.

"I had thought about it hitting something on the way down, but I didn't think about hitting anything on the way up," he said.

Convicted Of Negligence, Taking Drinks

Jury Stays Out Six Hours In Celebrated Case

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., Aug. 3 (AP)—S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon was cleared tonight of manslaughter charges in the April 8 death march that cost six Marine lives. He was found guilty of simple negligence and drinking on duty.

"I feel good, honest to God," the tall 31-year old drill instructor said moments after the verdict.

The court of seven military officers, then withdrew to consider the sentence. Unlike a civilian jury, it is their duty to sentence the defendant.

On the charge of drinking in barracks in violation of a general order McKeon is liable to a maximum two years in prison and a dishonorable discharge.

In acquitting the defendant of the most serious charge, manslaughter, the jury took it upon itself to render instead a verdict of guilty of simply rather than criminal negligence. It amounts to negligent homicide and is punishable by a maximum of a year in prison.

McKeon's pregnant wife, Betty, 28, broke down and wept at the verdict.

"I just feel stunned," she said.

Defense attorney Emile Zola Berman of New York City told reporters, "I am not appealing anything if this boy is kept in the Corps."

Under the conviction McKeon also is liable to a bad conduct discharge.

Twenty minutes after the verdict was returned, the court was recessed until 9:00 a.m. EDT tomorrow, thus deferring sentence for at least that long.

The prosecutor, Maj. Charles B. Sevier, who conducted the case against McKeon quietly but vigorously, shook hands with McKeon afterwards and told him:

"You just keep going like you have been doing."

The court received the case at 12:37 p.m. After an afternoon of deliberations, they went out for dinner at 5:22 p.m. In midafternoon, it had asked for the more than 40 exhibits in the case — maps, photographs and records.

Mossadegh To Be Released From Prison Today

TEHRAN, Iran, Aug. 3—UP—Mohammed Mossadegh, the weepy former premier of Iran who challenged the British and lost, will be freed from prison Saturday, it was announced Friday.

His release, three years after his nationalization of Anglo - Iranian oil led to his disgrace, comes at a time when another Middle East leader, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, is jousting with the British over nationalization of the Suez Canal.

Mossadegh's former chief of staff, Gen. Taghi Riahi, was freed Friday. He had spent three years in solitary confinement.

There has been little news of Mossadegh since he was sentenced by a military court Dec. 21, 1953. Clad in a threadbare overcoat and carpet slippers, he wept when his sentence was pronounced. He shuffled out to prison vowing to commit suicide.

At one time during his imprisonment — part of which was spent in solitary — Mossadegh went on a hunger strike. He gave it up when his guards force-fed him.

Riahi, who was arrested the day Mossadegh was overthrown, Aug. 19, 1953, left prison Friday in a friend's car. There was no demonstration.

Mossadegh grew overnight into one of the most powerful figures in the Middle East before his dramatic downfall. He was colorful and flamboyant. He did not hesitate to burst into tears in public when trying to make a point.

There are doubts about his age. Most reports put it at 76 but others range as high as 90.

His brazen policy of nationalization collapsed when international oil concerns boycotted the country's oil industry. The refineries, which once produced 32 - million dollar asset and no customers. American intercession brought a negotiated settlement on Aug. 5, 1954.

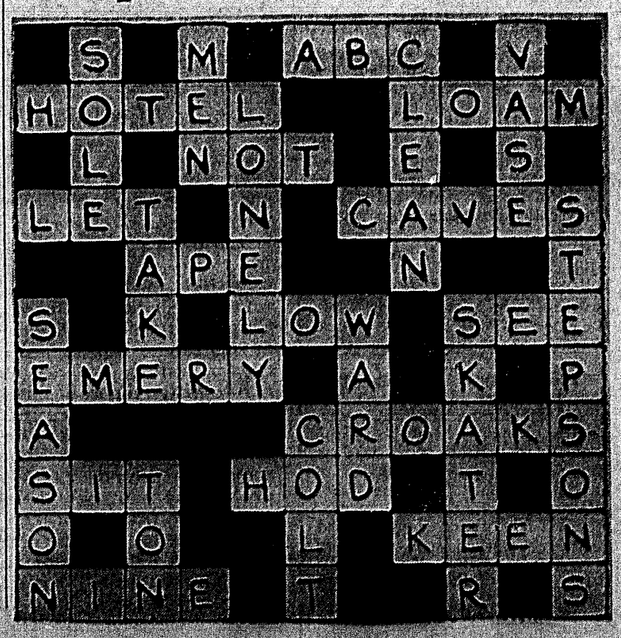
Crossword Puzzle Still Unsolved; Jackpot Next Week Will Be At $750



By BONANZA BILL

There were no winners this week in the Morning World's cross word puzzle contest, and the $750 jackpot went unclaimed.

The jackpot total for next week will be increased to $775.

Here are explanations of the more difficult clues to this week's solution:

CLUES ACROSS:

6. HOTEL is the better word. For people who normally LIVE in a HOVEL, life there IS a "normal" home life. A HOTEL is not home, and hardly affords a normal home life.

9. NOT is a good and contributive answer. NOW, strictly speaking, is superfluous, the PRESENT time is already indicated, by the word "are".

10. Naturally you should avoid people who LET you down. It is often IMPOSSIBLE to avoid people who GET you down - you may be working with them, or they may even be close relatives.

his army commander in chief, Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, and the presidential aide, Ali Sabry.

Earlier official Egyptian sources said the three-power plan "completely disregards the rights of Egypt to exercise sovereignty within its boundaries."

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles returned to Wasington from his London conference with British solution of the Suez crisis that would avoid "the danger of violence."

The three-power communique accused Nasser of an arbitrary seizure of international facilities for national purposes.

Britain, as host to the 24-nation conference, got out the invitations today.

Russia, one of the signatories of the 1888 convention guaranteeing the international character of the canal, got her invitation along with the rest.

Moscow remained officially noncommittal, but Western diplomats were hopeful the Russians would attend. They noted Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev in a speech this week urged a settlement by negotiation. They speculated, however, that Russia might demand the admission of Red China and perhaps some other Communist countries to the conference.

India's Cabinet met to consider the crisis and there were strong indications the government might propose neutral Geneva as the conference site, instead of London.

Reliable indications were that West Germany, Spain, Japan, Sweden, Pakistan and New Zealand all would attend.

Other nations invited, aside from the sponsoring powers, were Italy, Netherlands, Turkey, Australia, Ceylon, Denmark, Ethiopia, Greece, Indonesia, Iran, Norway and Portugal. (In a previous dispatch The Associated Press erred in saying Iraq was invited).

The list includes signers of the 1888 Constantinople Convention declaring the canal an international waterway, the main maritime nations using the canal and other countries whose commerce depends on it.

The Israeli ambassador to London, Ellahu Elath, protested officially at the Foreign Office tonight against Israel's having been left off the list.

He was said to have argued that the canal is as important to Israel as to some of the countries invited.

of the Louisiana State Mineral Board, and Jack P. F. Gremillion, Louisiana attorney general, said they were ready to sign an agreement to permit new drilling in the disputed area but to allow no new leases.

Told of this, Armstrong said "I doubt very much that we would enter into an agreement without providing some kind of provision for leasing."

Armstrong said he terminated the meeting "because we reached an impassed over one of the controversies between the federal government and state."

He said he felt the federal offer was "fair and equitable."

Armstrong said it contemplated that the federal lessees would consent to be bound by terms of the agreement between the state and federal governments and would waive the right to any refund under existing law.

"The state thought they should be able to make some other requirements before they would validate leases if they win the lawsuit," Armstrong said.

"The state wanted something else which is more or less vague in my mind. I couldn't quite understand what they had in mind."

Armstrong said that under a Supreme Court injunction issued June 1 drilling of wells started in the disputed area prior to that date may proceed but that there may be no new drilling started or any new leases issued.

The Louisiana officials told reporters they would have had no authority to enter into the negotiations except under "emergency act 38" passed by the 1956 state Legislature.

Both Gremillion and Helis said the federal officials insisted on stipulations which they contended would "forego" the emergency law.

"Understand they wanted us to forego Act 38 in the agreement and to stipulate away Louisiana's laws," Helis said at one point.

In legal action a stipulation is an agreement between attorneys which usually takes certain issues out of contention.

Helis said it had appeared until shortly before negotiations broke off that an agreement would be reached on an over-all arrangement for continuation of drilling in the disputed area

"We had reached a tentative compromise on future leasing," Helis continued, "but there were a few points we could not agree to because of our state laws.

"They wanted us to abandon Louisiana laws."

Gremillion said "Armstrong said he could not agree to recognize law 38."

"Then we offered a simple stipulation that drilling continue in the disputed area but that no further leases be issued pending Supreme Court adjudication of the dispute," Gremillion continued.

Helis said the latter proposal "was emphatically turned down—flatly turned down."

Helis added the state proposal that there be no further leasing pending adjudication of the dispute was opposed by spokesmen for the Justice Department on antitrust grounds.

Helis said he did not know what the next step might be.

Meantime, 18 major oil companies holding leases on 234 parcels in the disputed area are enjoined from further drilling. The companies had urged speedy agreement.

Under a Supreme Court order further drilling or leasing in the area is prohibited pending final decision in the dispute, unless the state and federal government file a mutual agreement to cover the operations.

Helis and Gremillion said in a statement the breakdown came over federal insistence that "the state of Louisiana have no right to require an agreement from leases at contemplated by Act 38 of 1956, which would include the furnishing of such surety bond, if any, as the Louisiana Mineral Board might deem necessary to protect the interests of Louisiana."

The Louisiana officials said that would only have given the state the same right with respect to any federal leases Louisiana may finally take over as the government was given in the case of state leases which the government took over under the "tidelands" act. That law gave the state jurisdiction out to their historical boundaries and assigned the outer Continental Shift to the federal government.

Armstrong told reporters he had several times told the Louisiana officials that it was up to them to interpret their own state law and that the federal government would not get into that sphere. The Louisiana officials said they proposed as a last resort a simple stipulation that drilling could proceed in the disputed area but that no new leases could be issued. They said Armstrong flatly rejected this.

Concerning that, Armstrong said:

"Our rejection of a Louisiana proposal—which was made after the meeting was adjourned—was based on very practical considerations.

"The Louisiana proposal that new drilling be permitted, without at the same time allowing the issuance of new leases, poses the same question—that there was no clear picture given by the state as to the conditions the state might impose.

"Further, both sides earlier had tentatively agreed upon a leasing arrangement, before the state officials reversed their position and forwarded the proposal which would have banned future leasing.

"We do not regard as practical and in the best public interest a plan that deals only with one phase of the over-all problem."

governor's office. Things like this have got to stop. It's just lucky 12 or 15 weren't killed.

"They had tire tools, jack handles, knives, home - made blackjacks and different things to commit bodily harm and injury. There's got to be something done."

There were no injuries in the demonstration, which Creek County Sheriff Lee Johnson said amounted to an attempt "to take over the town."

Johnson said most of the youths came from Cushing but there were others from Jennings, Keystone, Drumright and Mannford.

Clark said differences between the youths reached a critical point following a fist fight at a local dance last Saturday night.

He said the invading youths lined up and down main street Thursday night, waved their clubs and other weapons and paraded into cafes, drug stores and pool halls in search of Oilton boys who they "were going to take care of."

When law re - inforcements arrived, officers roped off both ends of main street, halted all traffic and began rounding up the trouble-makers.

Highway Patrolman Carl Pugh estimated 100 youths took part in the demonstration. About half of them escaped by running through alleys and climbing over buildings.

The Dixie members will caucus Sunday afternoon at Chicago to lay final strategy for the Monday fight.

Coleman, who declares Mississippi will never give an inch on the segregation question, is also chairman of Mississippi's 22-vote national convention delegation, most of which will arrive in Chicago by special train Aug. 12, the day before the convention opens.

The governor will board the train at nearby Winona long with Mrs. Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Tubb of West Point. Tubb was democratic state chairman until last month's state party convention. Mrs. Matthew J. Harper Jr., Mississippi's woman represenative on the platform committee, will board the same train earlier at Jackson. Highway patrol inspector Robert H. guards and supervisory personnel have on occasion slapped and cuffed prisoners."

In a unanimous report, the committee said that, "The allegations of cruelty and brutality have not been substantiated by the group before us."

The Department of Correction was asked to take action to stop such practices immediately.

The committee recommended strongly against any relaxation in Buford discipline which it said "has proved highly beneficial to the entire prison system of the state."

Food and sanitary conditions at the Buford camp were given a clean bill of health. The committee also said that "working hours and conditions of the prisoners are not inhumane and the prisoners are not being required to do any more work or to work longer hours than laborers in many types of industry."

State Press Gets Close View Of Army Maneuvers

NEW ORLEANS, August 3 (Special)—Army reserve units from four states, commanded by Brig Gen. Delesseps S. Morrison, flexed their battle muscles today while members of the Louisiana press watched in a field training area across Ponchartrain Lake north of New Orleans.

Reservists from Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana participated in a mock battle that produced an appearance of actual combat. The action was part of an annual reserve encampment designed to whip battle consciousness into the men and keep them a trained part of an alert army ready for action.

Monroe's 886th Transportation Company, commanded by Capt. E. A. Craven, is part of the encampment here this year. It was on location at the dramatic action today.

Among those here with the Monroe outfit are Capt. Craven, Lt. William Hughes, Lt. David Kahn, and warrant officer Tommie Fowler, all of Monroe, and Lt. Roland Carter of West Monroe.

Most of the action today was for the benefit of the visiting press which was whisked to the "battle" area in helicopters from Camp LeRoy Johnson at New Orleans.

General Morrison, a 20-year veteran of the army reserve, told newsmen the aim of the modern army reserve program "is designed to give us a group of trained men to be a part of a real army—not a paper army."

In the field action at Camp Villere, the maneuver area, Morrison's point was emphasized by roaring action that looks as real as war.

In the mock action the reservists used helicopters, smoke screen, light aircraft and strategy to flush the "enemy" from entrenchment and take command of the area. The disputed-ground was wrested from the opposing forces under a cloud of multi-colored smoke while deafening explosions thundered over the terrain.

The copters, pointing the many uses the army has found for the "egg beater," were practically throughout the operation. They delivered men, ammunition, and other provisions to the battle area to launch their operation and later returned to remove patrols and stretcher cases.

Another officer participating in the encampment is the Very Rev. David A. Jones, former rector at Grace Episcopal Church in Monroe Rev. Jones, now rector at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Dennison, Texas, is a reserve chaplain major attached to the reserve unit in Dennison.

ing as trial judge, handed them over and the court went back into session.

The verdict was announced immediately after the tribunal returned from a 40-minute lunch period.

Earlier, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman and Maj. Charles B. Sevier, the prosecutor, had presented closing arguments.

McKeon, tall and sandy-haired, sat immobile, eyes closed during most of the final moments of the most controversial court-martial in 180-years of proud Marine history.

His wife, Betty, sat in the spectators' section, her big, dark eyes fixed almost constantly on her husband. Within two weeks, she expects their third child.

He was accused of manslaughter, oppression of troops and drinking on duty for leading 74 members of Platoon 71 at night into the tidal waters of Ribbon Creek shortly after 8 o'clock on a Sunday night last spring.

Some 20 minutes after the platoon entered the muddy creek in reasonably orderly fashion, it had disintegrated into a shouting melee of frightened boys — 17 to 21 years of age — floundering beyond their depth and fighting for life. Six recruits who went under never came up alive.

The prosecution accused McKeon of a tyrannical act of punishment against his platoon. It offered testimony that he had been drinking, that he failed to reconnoiter the unfamiliar area of the creek, and that he failed to keep his platoon—some of them non-swimmers—in ranks in the water. Finally, it said such night marches into the marshes of this sprawling 5,000-acre base are prohibited.

for the purpose of offering, testing and evaluation of interests, personality and aptitudes in order to aid High School and College students who are undecided concerning their life's work, select a suitable career and plan effectively for it, and in a similar manner to help adults who up to now have been unable to find a personally satisfying type of vocation. Persons who avail themselves of this service will be given two, and perhaps three, full days of testing, interviewing, discussion and counseling. A full written report of the results will be furnished them. The fee for this service is $50.

The value of this procedure depends on the individual's seriousness of purpose. The testing periods are long and sometimes tiresome. Although most people find these evaluations extremely helpful, some will of necessity profit more from them than others.

Only 15 persons will be accepted. To be included phone 2-5141. Work will begin at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 7. The Virginia Hotel. For further information write Dr. Braman, 929 Royal, New Orleans.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX —

- Handicapped Child
- Sharing Expenses
- Tired Of His Troubles

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Mine is the problem of the handicapped child. My only son is almost blind and also has a nervous disorder that keeps us confined to the house. We are isolated, and no one ever comes to visit us. I guess they think our situation is too morbid.

No one can appreciate the desolation of our plight except those who share a similar one. We are completely alone except for God, and I guess without His comfort I couldn't go on. I would appreciate letters, especially those I could read to my child.

Mrs. G. L.

DEAR MRS. G.L.: My readers are very quick to answer appeals of any kind; I'm sure yours will not go unheeded. Mothers who share your heartbreak will be only too eager to hand on their suggestions, their sources of comfort and perhaps a partial solution to your trouble. I assure you, all communications will be promptly forwarded.

In the meantime, I suggest that you obtain two booklets from Public Affairs Pamphlets, of 22 East 38 Street, New York, New York. They are, "Gains for Handicapped Children," by Herbert Yahraes, and "How to Help Your Handicapped Child," by Dr. Samuel M. Wishik. Each booklet costs 25 cents.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My mother would like to join us on our vacation this year. She's a good companion and will be more than welcome. She wants to pay her own way, and I'd like to know how this can be done without my husband looking cheap. We travel on a budget, and Mom is well able to share expenses.

Mildred C.

DEAR MILDRED: This only calls for one good bookkeeper in the family. Either you could keep an unobtrusive record of mother's expenses, which she could pay up at the end of the day, or you could make a rough estimate of the costs and have Mom pay one-third. Don't, for heaven's sake, go into this routine of breaking down every meal check and toting up each share at the table.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: During the 23 years of our marriage, I have had little affection from my husband. He's a good provider, well liked and easy to get along with. He's had quite a bit of business trouble and I'd like to know whether you think it fair for a husband to tell all his troubles to his wife. I get tired of them.

Norine

DEAR NORINE: And to whom would he tell his troubles but his wife? I think you should be happy to have his confidences, good or bad. Turn a deaf or unwilling ear, and he may look elsewhere for the sympathy you should give him.

Three Ouachita Welfare Workers Accorded Honors

Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker, commissioner of the Louisiana department of public welfare, announced Friday that three Ouachita Parish residents have been honored this month for having attained 15 years of service with the department of public welfare, these including Joseph S. Worley, director of the Ouachita Parish welfare offices, Mrs. Anne M. Simpson and Mrs. Eula Williamson, welfare visitors.

All three, part of a group of 33 staff members of the department throughout the state who were so honored, were presented handsome certificates of merit signed by Mrs. Parker and W. H. Kilpatrick, chairman of the state welfare board. These certificates were accompanied by personal letters from Mrs. Parker in which she expressed appreciation for the loyalty and unselfish devotion shown by each of the three Ouachita residents during the 15 years of their affiliation with the welfare department.

Mr. Worley, native of Haynesville, graduated from high school there, then attended Centenary college in Shreveport. In February, 1941, after a period of service with ERA, FARR, and the U. S. department of agriculture, he became director of the Beauregard parish DPW offices. Later he was transferred to Natchitoches, where he served in the same capacity for Natchitoches parish. In December, 1948, Mr. Worley came to Monroe, where he has since been serving as director of the Ouachita parish offices.

Mrs. Eula Williamson of West Monroe, welfare visitor in the local parish office, entered her career in the public welfare field on June 5, 1941, when she became a field worker in Ouachita office. She had previously served as a junior clerk in the Monroe district office, bureau of intake and certification. Native of Jackson parish, she graduated from high school in Quitman, then attended Louisiana Tech at Ruston, She was employed for some time as a teacher in the schools of Jackson parish before moving to Ouachita, where she also served for a year as a teacher before turning her interests to welfare.

The third Ouachita welfare worker recognized for her 15 years of service with the department is Mrs. Anne M. Simpson, also of Monroe. Native of Kentwood, Mrs. Simpson, the former Anne Morris, graduated from high school in Bastrop then received her BA degree from Louisiana Tech at Ruston. Later she attended Dodd College. She became a field worker with the Ouachita parish department of public welfare on June 26, 1941, and has been employed in this area since that time. Her present title with the department is welfare visitor.

First Open Cotton Reported In LaSalle

JENA, Aug. 3 (Special) — W. W. Gilliam, of Route 1, Olla, this week brought in the first open cotton boll from a LaSalle parish farm, reporting he had been "hunting for it for the last 20 days." It was his first time in 25 years to win the honor of bringing in the parish's first open cotton boll.

Gilliam said that "I could have been the first one in with a cottom bloom" some months ago and added that he had "kept a close eye on those cotton bolls since then because I was determined no one would beat me this year."

Tech Graduates 107 Seniors At Exercises Thurs.

RUSTON, Aug. 3 (Special) — Fifteen summer graduates of Louisiana Tech finished with academic honors at commencement exercises in Howard Auditorium Thursday night. Seven were graduated with general honors and eight with departmental distinction.

Robert H. Evans, general manager of the forest products division of the Olin Mathieson Corporation at West Monroe, delivered the address.

Ranking highest in scholarship among the 107 seniors receiving their diplomas was Frank Edington Durham, of Hodge, who attained summa cum laude recognition, the highest possible. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Durham of Hodge. The honor graduate has been awarded a $2050 scholarship for a year's graduate study in physics at Rice Institute, effective in September.

Others graduating with general honors were follows:

Magna cum laude — Roy Oran Baker, of Truxno, and Carolyn McGehee McDade, of Shreveport.

Cum laude — James Terrell Brumble, Jr., of Bethany; Maggie Holstun Bryan, of Hilly; Everett Ray Chadrick, of Dodson, and Elmo Coleman, of Homer.

Those receiving departmental honors were:

Roy Oran Baker, of Truxno, electrical engineering and mathematics; Elmo Coleman, of Homer, education; Frank Edington Durham, of Hodge, mathematics and physics; Gilbert Gene Engle, of Shreveport, political science; Betty Roane Fallin, of Ruston, education; John Richard Hasty, of Frierson, animal industry; Carolyn McGehee McDade, of Shreveport, education, and Katherine Lee Nash, of Ruston, English.

Camping Season Ends At Ki-Ro-Li

Camp Ki-Ro-Li closed out its last week of camp Thursday night with a weekly campfire service. Approximately 60 boys from the southwest district took part in this service.

Seven boys were tapped for the Order of Arrow. They are Tommy Cain, Purvis Thomas, Don Williams, Woody Bryan, James Howard Nixon, Richard Mains and Keith Colvin.

Robert House, of Winnfield, received a free week in camp in addition to a shirt for selling $50 worth of circus tickets. Robert was the only boy from the northwest district to sell that many.

40 & 8'ers Told Cemetery To Have Unknown Soldiers

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 3 (Special) — U. S. Congressman Overton Brooks, Thursday night told members of the Shreveport 40 and 8 Voiture Locale 137, that two more "unknown soldiers" will be placed in Arlington National Cemetery by 1957, when memorial services for them will be held on Memorial Day.

Brooks was principal speaker before the group, which installed Harold M. Coburn as chef de gare of the voiture local 137. Sam A. Orchard, of Monroe, Louisiana grande chef de gare, administered the oath of office.

Brooks said that the two unknown soldiers will be brought from the far east or other areas, and that one of them will represent World War Two and the other the Korean conflict.

The congressman also mentioned the World War One veterans pension which failed to gain passage in the recent session of the house by only a slim margin. He said congress adjourned before the measure could come before the senate but that it is expected to be enacted at the next session.

Accompanying Orchard to Shreveport for the installation ceremonies was T. Mickel, of Monroe.

Youth Confesses Setting $40,000 Blaze At School

A 12 - year - old Monroe Negro boy has confessed setting the $40,000 June 4 fire to Carver Elementary school, 1700 Orange street, to "get even" with a teacher who whipped him, the Monroe police department stated Friday.

The juvenile confessed to the arson after persistent questioning by the police after he was taken into custody on suspicion of burglary, policemen reported. He also confessed to burglary and vandalism of three houses, officers said.

The youth told investigating officers he set fire to the school "because one of his teachers whipped him, and he reported the incident to the principal of the school who refused to take any action."

Further interrogation by authorities disclosed that the boy set fire to a curtain in the teachers' lounge June 4 and left. The three-alarm blaze razed the main interior of the elementary school.

A local contractor is now repairing the damage caused by the conflagration and is contracted to have it completed by the opening of the 1956-57 school term. His bid for the repair work is $38,671.

The juvenile, who was a student at the school, was taken into custody Thursday afternoon. He was first questioned about three house burglaries to which he readily confessed.

When officers asked him if he knew anything concerning the fire at the school, he answered "yes" and admitted the arson.

In burglarizing the houses, the youth took only $1.11 money, but pilfered the residences and wrote obscene words on the walls, authorities said. The houses were burglarized during the past week.

Policemen said the juvenile has been placed in the custody of his grandmother pending juvenile court action.

Aikin, a state senator from Paris, who polled a total of 382,724 votes in the primary, withdrew "upon direct orders from my physicians." That gave the office to Ben Ramsey, the present lieutenant governor.

France Plans

his army commander in chief, Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, and the presidential aide, Ali Sabry.

Earlier official Egyptian sources said the three-power plan "completely disregards the rights of Egypt to exercise sovereignty within its boundaries."

U.S. Secretary of State Dulles returned to Wasington from his London conference with British solution of the Suez crisis that would avoid "the danger of violence."

The three-power communique accused Nasser of an arbitrary seizure of international facilities for national purposes.

Britain, as host to the 24-nation conference, got out the invitations today.

Russia, one of the signatories of the 1888 convention guaranteeing the international character of the canal, got her invitation along with the rest.

Moscow remained officially noncommittal, but Western diplomats were hopeful the Russians would attend. They noted Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev in a speech this week urged a settlement by negotiation. They speculated, however, that Russia might demand the admission of Red China and perhaps some other Communist countries to the conference.

India's Cabinet met to consider the crisis and there were strong indications the government might propose neutral Geneva as the conference site, instead of London.

Reliable indications were that West Germany, Spain, Japan, Sweden, Pakistan and New Zealand all would attend.

Other nations invited, aside from the sponsoring powers, were Italy, Netherlands, Turkey, Australia, Ceylon, Denmark, Ethiopia, Greece, Indonesia, Iran, Norway and Portugal. (In a previous dispatch The Associated Press erred in saying Iraq was invited).

The list includes signers of the 1888 Constantinople Convention declaring the canal an international waterway, the main maritime nations using the canal and other countries whose commerce depends on it.

The Israeli ambassador to London, Eliahu Elath, protested officially at the Foreign Office tonight against Israel's having been left off the list.

He was said to have argued that the canal is as important to Israel as to some of the countries invited.

worst in commercial aviation history, radio reports from the two planes showed that both were flying at 21,000 feet and expected to reach the Painted Desert in Arizona at the same time—2:31 p.m. EDT.

The CAA communications station at Needles, Calif., relayed this information to the traffic control stations at Albuquerque, N.M., and Salt Lake City.

The two airliners had left Los Angeles three minutes apart but on different courses. The United plane was under instructions to fly at 21,000 feet and the TWA plane at 19,000.

However, the TWA pilot ran into heavy weather and asked permission to climb to 21,000 feet. This request was refused but he was granted permission to climb 1,000 feet over the weather.

Oil Talk

of the Louisiana State Mineral Board, and Jack P. F. Gremillion, Louisiana attorney general, said they were ready to sign an agreement to permit new drilling in the disputed area but to allow no new leases.

Told of this, Armstrong said "I doubt very much that we would enter into an agreement without providing some kind of provision for leasing."

Armstrong said he terminated the meeting "because we reached an impassed over one of the controversies between the federal government and state."

He said he felt the federal offer was "fair and equitable."

Armstrong said it contemplated that the federal lessees would consent to be bound by terms of the agreement between the state and federal governments and would waive the right to any refund under existing law.

"The state thought they should be able to make some other requirements before they would validate leases if they win the lawsuit," Armstrong said.

"The state wanted something else which is more or less vague in my mind. I couldn't quite understand what they had in mind."

Armstrong said that under a Supreme Court injunction issued June 1 drilling of wells started in the disputed area prior to that date may proceed but that there may be no new drilling started or any new leases issued.

The Louisiana officials told reporters they would have had no authority to enter into the negotiations except under "emergency act 38" passed by the 1956 state Legislature.

Both Gremillion and Helis said the federal officials insisted on stipulations which they contended would "forego" the emergency law.

"Understand they wanted us to forego Act 38 in the agreement and to stipulate away Louisiana's laws," Helis said at one point.

In legal action a stipulation is an agreement between attorneys which usually takes certain issues out of contention.

Helis said it had appeared until shortly before negotiations broke off that an agreement would be reached on an over-all arrangement for continuation of drilling in the disputed area

"We had reached a tentative compromise on future leasing," Helis continued, "but there were a few points we could not agree to because of our state laws.

"They wanted us to abandon Louisiana laws."

Gremillion said "Armstrong said he could not agree to recognize law 38."

"Then we offered a simple stipulation that drilling continue in the disputed area but that no further leases be issued pending Supreme Court adjudication of the dispute," Gremillion continued.

Helis said the latter proposal "was emphatically turned down—flatly turned down."

Helis added the state proposal that there be no further leasing pending adjudication of the dispute was opposed by spokesmen for the Justice Department on antitrust grounds.

Helis said he did not know what the next step might be.

Meantime, 18 major oil companies holding leases on 234 parcels in the disputed area are enjoined from further drilling. The companies had urged speedy agreement.

Under a Supreme Court order further drilling or leasing in the area is prohibited pending final decision in the dispute, unless the state and federal government file a mutual agreement to cover the operations.

Helis and Gremillion said in a statement the breakdown came over federal insistence that "the state of Louisiana have no right to require an agreement from leases at contemplated by Act 38 of 1956, which would include the furnishing of such surety bond, if any, as the Louisiana Mineral Board might deem necessary to protect the interests of Louisiana."

The Louisiana officials said that would only have given the state the same right with respect to any federal leases Louisiana may finally take over as the government was given in the case of state leases which the government took over under the "tidelands" act. That law gave the state jurisdiction out to their historical boundaries and assigned the outer Continental Shift to the federal government.

Armstrong told reporters he had several times told the Louisiana officials that it was up to them to interpret their own state law and that the federal government would not get into that sphere. The Louisiana officials said they proposed as a last resort a simple stipulation that drilling could proceed in the disputed area but that no new leases could be issued. They said Armstrong flatly rejected this.

Concerning that, Armstrong said:

"Our rejection of a Louisiana proposal—which was made after the meeting was adjourned—was based on very practical considerations.

"The Louisiana proposal that new drilling be permitted, without at the same time allowing the issuance of new leases, poses the same question—that there was no clear picture given by the state as to the conditions the state might impose.

"Further, both sides earlier had tentatively agreed upon a leasing arrangement, before the state officials reversed their position and forwarded the proposal which would have banned future leasing.

"We do not regard as practical and in the best public interest a plan that deals only with one phase of the over-all problem."

Youth Collapses After Swim, Is Hospitalized

W. C. Brown, an 18-year-old West Monroe youth was reported as resting comfortably by hospital officials last night.

Brown collapsed after swimming across the Ouachita river yesterday noon.

Artificial respiration was administered by Monroe fire department members and the youth was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

governor's office. Things like this have got to stop. It's just lucky 12 or 15 weren't killed.

"They had tire tools, jack handles, knives, home - made blackjacks and different things to commit bodily harm and injury. There's got to be something done."

There were no injuries in the demonstration, which Creek County Sheriff Lee Johnson said amounted to an attempt "to take over the town."

Johnson said most of the youths came from Cushing but there were others from Jennings, Keystone, Drumright and Mannford.

Clark said differences between the youths reached a critical point following a fist fight at a local dance last Saturday night.

He said the invading youths lined up and down main street Thursday night, waved their clubs and other weapons and paraded into cafes, drug stores and pool halls in search of Oilton boys who they "were going to take care of."

When law re - inforcements arrived, officers roped off both ends of main street, halted all traffic and began rounding up the trouble-makers.

Highway Patrolman Carl Pugh estimated 100 youths took part in the demonstration. About half of them escaped by running through alleys and climbing over buildings.

The Dixie members will caucus Sunday afternoon at Chicago to lay final strategy for the Monday fight.

Coleman, who declares Mississippi will never give an inch on the segregation question, is also chairman of Mississippi's 22-vote national convention delegation, most of which will arrive in Chicago by special train Aug. 12, the day before the convention opens.

The governor will board the train at nearby Winona long with Mrs. Coleman and Mr. and Mrs. Tom J. Tubb of West Point. Tubb was democratic state chairman until last month's state party convention. Mrs. Matthew J. Harper Jr., Mississippi's woman represenative on the platform committee, will board the same train earlier at Jackson. Highway patrol inspector Robert H. Fyke, Jackson, also will be in the governor's party.

guards and supervisory personnel have on occasion slapped and cuffed prisoners"

In a unanimous report, the committee said that, "The allegations of cruelty and brutality have not been substantiated by the group before us."

The Department of Correction was asked to take action to stop such practices immediately.

The committee recommended strongly against any relaxation in Buford discipline which it said "has proved highly beneficial to the entire prison system of the state."

Food and sanitary conditions at the Buford camp were given a clean bill of health. The committee also said that "working hours and conditions of the prisoners are not inhumane and the prisoners are not being required to do any more work or to work longer hours than laborers in many types of industry."

State Press Gets Close View Of Army Maneuvers

NEW ORLEANS, August 3 (Special)—Army reserve units from four states, commanded by Brig Gen. Delesseps S. Morrison, flexed their battle muscles today while members of the Louisiana press watched in a field training area across Ponchartrain Lake north of New Orleans.

Reservists from Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, and Louisiana participated in a mock battle that produced an appearance of actual combat. The action was part of an annual reserve encampment designed to whip battle consciousness into the men and keep them a trained part of an alert army ready for action.

Monroe's 886th Transportation Company, commanded by Capt. E. A. Craven, is part of the encampment here this year. It was on location at the dramatic action today.

Among those here with the Monroe outfit are Capt. Craven, Lt. William Hughes, Lt. David Kahn, and warrant officer Tommie Fowler, all of Monroe, and Lt. Roland Carter of West Monroe.

Most of the action today was for the benefit of the visiting press which was whisked to the "battle" area in helicopters from Camp LeRoy Johnson at New Orleans.

General Morrison, a 20-year veteran of the army reserve, told newsmen the aim of the modern army reserve program "is designed to give us a group of trained men to be a part of a real army—not a paper army."

In the field action at Camp Villere, the maneuver area, Morrison's point was emphasized by roaring action that looks as real as war.

In the mock action the reservists used helicopters, smoke screen, light aircraft and strategy to flush the "enemy" from entrenchment and take command of the area. The disputed-ground was wrested from the opposing forces under a cloud of multi-colored smoke while deafening explosions thundered over the terrain.

The copters, pointing the many uses the army has found for the "egg beater," were practically throughout the operation. They delivered men, ammunition, and other provisions to the battle area to launch their operation and later returned to remove patrols and stretcher cases.

Another officer participating in the encampment is the Very Rev. David A. Jones, former rector at Grace Episcopal Church in Monroe Rev. Jones, now rector at St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Dennison, Texas, is a reserve chaplain major attached to the reserve unit in Dennison.

ing as trial judge, handed them over and the court went back into session.

The verdict was announced immediately after the tribunal returned from a 40-minute lunch period.

Earlier, defense attorney Emile Zola Berman and Maj. Charles B. Sevier, the prosecutor, had presented closing arguments.

McKeon, tall and sandy-haired, sat immobile, eyes closed during most of the final moments of the most controversial court-martial in 180-years of proud Marine history.

His wife, Betty, sat in the spectators' section, her big, dark eyes fixed almost constantly on her husband. Within two weeks, she expects their third child.

He was accused of manslaughter, oppression of troops and drinking on duty for leading 74 members of Platoon 71 at night into the tidal waters of Ribbon Creek shortly after 8 o'clock on a Sunday night last spring.

Some 20 minutes after the platoon entered the muddy creek in reasonably orderly fashion, it had disintegrated into a shouting melee of frightened boys — 17 to 21 years of age — floundering beyond their depth and fighting for life. Six recruits who went under never came up alive.

The prosecution accused McKeon of a tyrannical act of punishment against his platoon. It offered testimony that he had been drinking, that he failed to reconnoiter the unfamiliar area of the creek, and that he failed to keep his platoon—some of them nonswimmers—in ranks in the water. Finally, it said such night marches into the marshes of this sprawling 5,000-acre base are prohibited.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX —

- Handicapped Child
- Sharing Expenses
- Tired Of His Troubles

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Mine is the problem of the handicapped child. My only son is almost blind and also has a nervous disorder that keeps us confined to the house. We are isolated, and no one ever comes to visit us. I guess they think our situation is too morbid.

No one can appreciate the desolation of our plight except those who share a similar one. We are completely alone except for God, and I guess without His comfort I couldn't go on. I would appreciate letters, especially those I could read to my child.

Mrs. G. L.

DEAR MRS. G.L.: My readers are very quick to answer appeals of any kind; I'm sure yours will not go unheeded. Mothers who share your heartbreak will be only too eager to hand on their suggestions, their sources of comfort and perhaps a partial solution to your trouble. I assure you, all communications will be promptly forwarded.

In the meantime, I suggest that you obtain two booklets from Public Affairs Pamphlets, of 22 East 38 Street, New York, New York. They are, "Gains for Handicapped Children," by Herbert Yahraes, and "How to Help Your Handicapped Child," by Dr. Samuel M. Wishik. Each booklet costs 25 cents.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My mother would like to join us on our vacation this year. She's a good companion and will be more than welcome. She wants to pay her own way, and I'd like to know how this can be done without my husband looking cheap. We travel on a budget, and Mom is well able to share expenses.

Mildred C.

DEAR MILDRED: This only calls for one good bookkeeper in the family. Either you could keep an unobtrusive record of mother's expenses, which she could pay up at the end of the day, or you could make a rough estimate of the costs and have Mom pay one-third. Don't, for heaven's sake, go into this routine of breaking down every meal check and toting up each share at the table.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: During the 23 years of our marriage, I have had little affection from my husband. He's a good provider, well liked and easy to get along with. He's had quite a bit of business trouble and I'd like to know whether you think it fair for a husband to tell all his troubles to his wife. I get tired of them.

Norine

DEAR NORINE: And to whom would he tell his troubles but his wife? I think you should be happy to have his confidences, good or bad. Turn a deaf or unwilling ear, and he may look elsewhere for the sympathy you should give him.

Three Ouachita Welfare Workers Accorded Honors

Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker, commissioner of the Louisiana department of public welfare, announced Friday that three Ouachita Parish residents have been honored this month for having attained 15 years of service with the department of public welfare, these including Joseph S. Worley, director of the Ouachita Parish welfare offices, Mrs. Anne M. Simpson and Mrs. Eula Williamson, welfare visitors.

All three, part of a group of 33 staff members of the department throughout the state who were so honored, were presented handsome certificates of merit signed by Mrs. Parker and W. H. Kilpatrick, chairman of the state welfare board. These certificates were accompanied by personal letters from Mrs. Parker in which she expressed appreciation for the loyalty and unselfish devotion shown by each of the three Ouachita residents during the 15 years of their affiliation with the welfare department.

Mr. Worley, native of Haynesville, graduated from high school there, then attended Centenary college in Shreveport. In February, 1941, after a period of service with ERA, FARR, and the U. S. department of agriculture, he became director of the Beauregard parish DPW offices. Later he was transferred to Natchitoches, where he served in the same capacity for Natchitoches parish. In December, 1948, Mr. Worley came to Monroe, where he has since been serving as director of the Ouachita parish offices.

Mrs. Eula Williamson of West Monroe, welfare visitor in the local parish office, entered her career in the public welfare field on June 5, 1941, when she became a field worker in Ouachita office. She had previously served as a junior clerk in the Monroe district office, bureau of intake and certification. Native of Jackson parish, she graduated from high school in Quitman, then attended Louisiana Tech at Ruston, She was employed for some time as a teacher in the schools of Jackson parish before moving to Ouachita, where she also served for a year as a teacher before turning her interests to welfare.

The third Ouachita welfare worker recognized for her 15 years of service with the department is Mrs. Anne M. Simpson, also of Monroe. Native of Kentwood, Mrs. Simpson, the former Anne Morris, graduated from high school in Bastrop then received her BA degree from Louisiana Tech at Ruston. Later she attended Dodd College. She became a field worker with the Ouachita parish department of public welfare on June 26, 1941, and has been employed in this area since that time. Her present title with the department is welfare visitor.

First Open Cotton Reported In LaSalle

JENA, Aug. 3 (Special) — W. W. Gilliam, of Route 1, Olla, this week brought in the first open cotton boll from a LaSalle parish farm, reporting he had been "hunting for it for the last 20 days." It was his first time in 25 years to win the honor of bringing in the parish's first open cotton boll.

Gilliam said that "I could have been the first one in with a cottom bloom" some months ago and added that he had "kept a close eye on those cotton bolls since then because I was determined no one would beat me this year."

Tech Graduates 107 Seniors At Exercises Thurs.

RUSTON, Aug. 3 (Special) — Fifteen summer graduates of Louisiana Tech finished with academic honors at commencement exercises in Howard Auditorium Thursday night. Seven were graduated with general honors and eight with departmental distinction.

Robert H. Evans, general manager of the forest products division of the Olin Mathieson Corporation at West Monroe, delivered the address.

Ranking highest in scholarship among the 107 seniors receiving their diplomas was Frank Edington Durham, of Hodge, who attained summa cum laude recognition, the highest possible. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Durham of Hodge. The honor graduate has been awarded a $2050 scholarship for a year's graduate study in physics at Rice Institute, effective in September.

Others graduating with general honors were follows:

Magna cum laude — Roy Oran Baker, of Truxno, and Carolyn McGehee McDade, of Shreveport.

Cum laude — James Terrell Brumble, Jr., of Bethany; Maggie Holstun Bryan, of Hilly; Everett Ray Chadrick, of Dodson, and Elmo Coleman, of Homer.

Those receiving departmental honors were:

Roy Oran Baker, of Truxno, electrical engineering and mathematics; Elmo Coleman, of Homer, education; Frank Edington Durham, of Hodge, mathematics and physics; Gilbert Gene Engle, of Shreveport, political science; Betty Roane Fallin, of Ruston, education; John Richard Hasty, of Frierson, animal industry; Carolyn McGehee McDade, of Shreveport, education, and Katherine Lee Nash, of Ruston, English.

Camping Season Ends At Ki-Ro-Li

Camp Ki-Ro-Li closed out its last week of camp Thursday night with a weekly campfire service. Approximately 60 boys from the southwest district took part in this service.

Seven boys were tapped for the Order of Arrow. They are Tommy Cain, Purvis Thomas, Don Williams, Woody Bryan, James Howard Nixon, Richard Mains and Keith Colvin.

Robert House, of Winnfield, received a free week in camp in addition to a shirt for selling $50 worth of circus tickets. Robert was the only boy from the northwest district to sell that many.

40 & 8'ers Told Cemetery To Have Unknown Soldiers

SHREVEPORT, Aug. 3 (Special) — U. S. Congressman Overton Brooks, Thursday night told members of the Shreveport 40 and 8 Volture Locale 137, that two more "unknown soldiers" will be placed in Arlington National Cemetery by 1957, when memorial services for them will be held on Memorial Day.

Brooks was principal speaker before the group, which installed Harold M. Coburn as chef de gare of the volture local 137. Sam A. Orchard, of Monroe, Louisiana grande chef de gare, administered the oath of office.

Brooks said that the two unknown soldiers will be brought from the far east or other areas, and that one of them will represent World War Two and the other the Korean conflict.

The congressman also mentioned the World War One veterans pension which failed to gain passage in the recent session of the house by only a slim margin. He said congress adjourned before the measure could come before the senate but that it is expected to be enacted at the next session.

Accompanying Orchard to Shreveport for the installation ceremonies was T. Mickel, of Monroe.

Youth Confesses Setting $40,000 Blaze At School

A 12 - year - old Monroe Negro boy has confessed setting the $40,000 June 4 fire to Carver Elementary school, 1700 Orange street, to "get even" with a teacher who whipped him, the Monroe police department stated Friday.

The juvenile confessed to the arson after persistent questioning by the police after he was taken into custody on suspicion of burglary, policemen reported. He also confessed to burglary and vandalism of three houses, officers said.

The youth told investigating officers he set fire to the school "because one of his teachers whipped him, and he reported the incident to the principal of the school who refused to take any action."

Further interrogation by authorities disclosed that the boy set fire to a curtain in the teachers' lounge June 4 and left. The three-alarm blaze razed the main interior of the elementary school.

A local contractor is now repairing the damage caused by the conflagration and is contracted to have it completed by the opening of the 1956-57 school term. His bid for the repair work is $38,671.

The juvenile, who was a student at the school, was taken into custody Thursday afternoon. He was first questioned about three house burglaries to which he readily confessed.

When officers asked him if he knew anything concerning the fire at the school, he answered "yes" and admitted the arson.

In burglarizing the houses, the youth took only $1 in money, but pilfered the residences and wrote obscene words on the walls, authorities said. The houses were burglarized during the past week.

Policemen said the juvenile has been placed in the custody of his grandmother pending juvenile court action.

Water In America Generally, And In Louisiana

A few months ago The Morning World ran an editorial saying that water constitutes the main natural resource of Louisiana, and that the noble Ouachita River is the greatest single natural resource of the Ouachita Basin in Louisiana and Arkansas.

An internationally known industrialist, Robert H. Morse, Jr., in a recent address before a distinguished gathering, called attention to some basic and incontroversial facts regarding water.

As president of a pump manufacturing company, he pointed out that "the pumps of our nation transport more daily tonnage than all other transportation systems combined."

Yet this was merely a prelude to his speech, which dealt primarily with the constantly growing water shortage in America—a crucial problem today—perhaps a critical problem tomorrow.

In language suited to the layman as well as the expert, Mr. Morse vividly portrayed the problem; and we quote some of his remarks:

"The saying goes that people will always eat—that they will buy food before anything else. This isn't quite right. The human animal can go without food much longer than he can go without water. There are K-rations and compressed food tablets and vitamins, but no one has ever come up with a good water substitute.

Water is the most basic need on earth. Our social and industrial expansion is marked by a growing dependence on water—and a sharp increase in its use.

"This is an age of steel. It takes 18,000 gallons of water to make a ton of ingot iron, and it takes 65,000 gallons of water to convert this ton of iron into steel. Our steel industry uses four trillion gallons of water a year.

"This is an age of petroleum. It takes 7010 gallons of water to make one 55-gallon barrel of gasoline. United States oil refineries use one and a half trillion gallons of water each year.

"Figures of this magnitude exist elsewhere only in outer space. Let's get back down to earth.

"It takes 160 gallons of water to make a pound of aluminum or a pound of synthetic rubber; 470 gallons to make a barrel of beer; 3600 gallons per ton for coke. That's a sampling of industry.

On the farm, a steer needs—for each pound of his weight—3750 gallons of water for himself and the grass he eats. A slice of bread—including the growing of its grain—has used 37.5 gallons of water. That helping of potatoes is floated to your table on 1405 gallons of water.

"Twenty years ago less than half of the single-family residences in the United States contained the elementary convenience of running water. Today we live in homes with modern kitchens and multiple bathrooms, and this has increased the daily household water use per American citizen to more than 50 gallons. The automatic washing machine, the automatic dishwasher and the garbage disposal unit combine to point the curve of domestic water consumption sharply upward.

"In homes and factories, the use of water amounts to more than 1,100 gallons a day for each man, woman and child of our population.

"We are currently withdrawing over 200 billion gallons a day from our water resources. Irrigation uses half of this amount. Industry accounts for 81 billion. Public supply from water utilizes 14 billion. Farms exclusive of irrigation use five billion."

Here, in vivid words, from an outstanding international authority, we have a picture of the American water situation, but let us quote Mr. Morse a little further.

"If all we had to do was hold our own and continue to supply ourselves 200 billion gallons a day, the problem would still include a serious complication. In many sections of the country, water is being used faster than nature is supplying it to our streams, lakes and underground sources.

"Some geophysicists say that the polar ice cap is receding, that the melting ice is raising the level of our oceans and that the resulting changes in thermal currents are affecting the precipitation pattern. Obviously nothing can be done about this.

"Other scientists say that as we clear the land, plow the prairies and clean up the leaf cover, we destroy our natural reservoirs. The rains run off quickly to the oceans. There is inadequate absorbent cover to hold precipitation, let it sink slowly into the soil and accumulate under ground. Soil conservationists are attacking the problem with vigor, but until the corrective forces take effect, it is certain that we will be forced to lift our water from greater depths and distribute it over greater distances."

Louisiana ranks among the topmost commonwealths of America in its annual rainfall and the multiplicity of great waterways draining its borders or flowing through its rich lands, from the great "Father of Waters," the Mississippi River to the Red and the Ouachita and others; and its marvelous lakes, bayous and lagoons dotting the land.

Water, more than any other single factor, even today provides a key to industrial growth or retardation.

As The Morning World editorial of a few months ago pointed out, the Ouachita River, if it could be sold and transplanted to such a state as Arizona, would bring a fabulous price.

Yet the need for sound and wise conservation measures to safeguard Louisiana's water supply against waste and pollution is paramount; and there is an urgent need for concentrated development of our water resources, including the full utilization of the Ouachita as a bearer of water commerce, with a standard nine-foot channel, and locks and dams equipped to handle the vast commerce of the gigantic American inland waterway system, extending from the Great Lakes and Pittsburgh and St. Louis to Brownsville at the Southwestern tip of Texas; and the barge traffic of the North Atlantic seaboard.

Louisiana has abundant water, if properly conserved and used. It has tremendous natural resources of oil, gas, timber, sulphur, and fertile soil for the growing of crops and livestock.

Of them all, water is its greatest natural resource and the real key to its industrial future.

Aid Without Meaning

The Hindustan Times of India made this point:

"The reason why neutral nations accept Soviet aid is that they need it to speed their development projects. U. S. aid is extended more in terms of military than economic aid, and if economic aid earmarked for neutral nations falls far below their requirements, it would be preposterous on the part of Nixon or other U. S. leaders to maintain that they should not accept Soviet aid in addition.

"Surely not even Nixon would go to the extent of saying that all aid, any aid, would have strings attached, for that would imply that U. S. aid itself is not above question; but when he maintains that Soviet aid alone should be spurned on this score, neutral nations that stand to benefit by it must claim to be the best judge of their own interests."

Accepting this line of argument as a premise, the question arises: Why should the United States expend more than $4 billion this year on aid to foreign countries, some of which will go to India? For what reason should American citizens be taxed exorbitantly so that our government can aid India. What precisely is meant by "strings attached?" Do these countries want our money unconditionally? Would they want us to give them aid even to use against us?

If neutral nations wish to accept Soviet aid, why should the United States not agree to let Soviet Russia bankrupt itself aiding these countries? Precisely what difference will it actually make to the people of the United States whether we give aid to India or not? Do these people of India really believe that they are doing us a favor by accepting our aid?

I have never seen any answers to these questions which stand up under examination except the emotional one that millions of people of India are in distress, that India is a pesthole and that we ought to do something about it. Why not let Soviet Russia do something about it? We have done enough for backward peoples and for pestholes.

My guess is that if the United States goes out of the eleemosynary business, so will Soviet Russia. Khruschev entered upon his aid campaign as part of his program of competing with the United States but his competition has only stimulated the weak and backward peoples to blackmail both sides; as Nasser has tried to do, fortunately with less success than was anticipated. His ante was too high and his bluff was called. Nehru is more diplomatic, more Machiavellian. He sings in a minor key and the American do-gooders fall all over themselves for a chance to lick his boots. Of the two men, Nasser seems the more forthright.

A columnist in the People's Daily of Peking makes the point:

"With the easing of international tension and the defeat of the U.S. policy of strength, the impact of neutrality has become increasingly greater. Even in the Asian countries included in U.S. military blocs, the sentiment of neutrality is growing steadily.

"Nixon's attacks and slanders on neutrality, China, and the Soviet Union were intended to a great extent as a threat to the countries he visited. They were also designed to sow discord between them and other Asian countries. In choosing Karachi as a platform to assail Nehru, Nixon apparently intended to estrange India and Pakistan to the advantage of the United States."

What utter nonsense! Pakistan and India have been estranged since partition and possibly before. That is why there is partition.

If the sentiment for neutrality is growing in Asia, then it is clear that we shall not purchase friendship on that continent any more than we purchased friendship in Europe, or in Iceland or anywhere. Friendship is not purchasable by money and those who said so when the Marshall Plan was proposed have been proved correct by the course of events.

Then why not keep our money at home and reduce taxes? If countries choose to be neutral between the United States and Soviet Russia, then that is strictly up to those countries and they can enjoy themselves to their hearts' content. Why should we bother?

However, it is impossible for the United States not to note that neutralism is also a Soviet policy, their theory being that those countries which are not for the United States are definitely for Soviet

Congressional Quarterly

Democrats May Add State Capital Seats

WASHINGTON, — Democrats — Seated as governors in 7 state capitals — may add to that total in November's elections.

Congressional Quarterly surveyed the 30 governorships in contest this year — 16 held by Republicans, 14 by Democrats — found that:

Tight contests appear likely in seven states. Republicans expect difficulties in holding Delaware, Illinois, Massachusetts and Montana. Democratic governorships are in danger in Ohio, New Mexico, and Colorado.

Republicans have the edge in Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wisconsin and Ohio.

Democrats have the advantage in Arizona, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri and West Virginia.

And the Democrats are certain to hold Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Texas. Republican governorships are safe in Nebraska, New Hampshire, South Dakota and Vermont.

The crucial gubernatorial races are:

Delaware — GOP Gov. J. Caleb Boggs (R) is beset with a heavily Democratic legislature and strong resistance in southern Delaware to desegregation.

Illinois — Gov. William E. Stratton (R) was well ahead in his race for reelection when scandals broke out in the offices of the state auditor and state superintendent of public instruction. The revelation sharply downgraded his relection chances, although he was not involved in the scandals and took immediate remedical measures.

Massachusetts — Lt. Gov. Summer Whittier (R) wants to succeed retiring Gov. Christian A. Herter (R). But he is likely to draw as his opponent Foster Furcolo (D), former Representative and state treasurer who barely missed in a try for the Senate in 1954.

Montana — Gov. J. Hugo Aronson (R) has stiff competition from Arnold H. Olsen (D), the state's young attorney general.

Ohio — With five 8 term Gov. Frank J. Lausche (D) retiring, Attorney General C. William O'Neill (R) is ahead of former OPA Chief Michael V. DiSalle (D) in O'Neill's bid to return the Ohio governorship to the GOP after eight years of Democratic control.

New Mexico — Gov. John F. Simms Jr. (D), who barely hurdled his own primary, has stiff competition from former Gov. Edwin L. Mechem (R), the state's only GOP governor since 1930.

Colorado — With Gov. Edwin C. Johnson (D) retiring, Lt. Gov. Stephen L. R. McNichols (D) must take on State Sen. Donald G. Brotzman (R), who made a surprisingly strong showing against the veteran Johnson in 1954.

In addition to these contests the spotlight will be on normally Republican Maine, where Gov. Edmond S. Muskie, first Democrat to hold that post in two decades, tries for re-election to the seat he won in 1954. The Maine election will be held Sept. 10, and it may be a bellwether of the November election.

Other interesting governors' contests are in the offing in Minnesota, where former Rural Electrification Administrator Ancher Nelsen is out to stop the relection bid of Gov. Orville L. Freeman (D); in Michigan where Gov. G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams (D), seeking an unprecedented fifth term, likely will be challenged by Detroit's Mayor Albert E. Cobo (R); and in Kansas and Utah where Republican incumbents Fred Hall and J. Bracken Lee, controversial in their own party, face determined opposition.

WATCH THAT KID; HE'S NOT A FAIR FIGHTER

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

A Certain Dignity

A small boy of about ten years old scurried along the main street of a sizeable New England town leaving a trail of dislike behind him that promised no good to his future.

An elderly man sat in a parked car before a shop evidently waiting for someone who had gone into the shop. Small boy halted beside him and said, "Hullo Pop, Drop dead." The old gentleman sent a frozen stare after his retreating heels and muttered something in his beard.

Next he paid attention to a woman who was selling fruit at a stand. "Hullo Fat. Give'z a apple," and he grabbed one and sped on his way. "How dreadful," said the customer. "Oh, that's nothing. You should hear what he says sometimes. He sticks his head in the door and yells all sorts of things. Why his nother doesn't teach him something — She lets him call her Nellie, Nellie Old Girl, and the like. His father he calls Pop, or Henry, or Bats — anything that comes to his mind."

"Anything wrong with the child?" "Not a thing. Just bad manners. His parents must think he's wonderful. He's smart but he's just a nuisance."

In our haste to become democratic in our relations with people some of us have gone overboard. Bad manners ought not to be the badge of democracy. Good manners are the passport to association with good mannered people, intelligent people, and to the pleasant places they create. To allow a child to form habits of manner and speech that will block such associations and close such pleasant places is a sad mistake.

Children should be taught that a certain dignity is essential to the personality of all people, including children. To wound that dignity is to commit a social error hard to undo, and their price in dislike and hatred is very high.

The parent who teaches a child to call him by his first name makes a mistake expensive to his child. "Father" is a fine name, none better, and carries great dignity with it. And why not teach a child to say "No sir, and yes sir, If you please, and excuse me," when speaking to an older person.

One father said that he had enough of that in the army and didn't want any of it in the family. It works well in the family. Discipline there is quite as wholesome as in the army. It is needed.

Children should be taught to respect their own dignity and to know that they affront it when they are ill-mannered.

IN WASHINGTON

Symington Has Strong Backing As V-P Compromise

At this point, Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is out in front as the likely Democratic nominee for Vice President. His selection is regarded here as logical because he fits the specification for an ideal compromise candidate, to avoid a wrangle over the nomination for second place at Chicago.

Of the several possible contenders for the office, the Missouri senator can well be the choice of Adlai Stevenson, overwhelming favorite for the presidential nomination, for several reasons. These include:

1. A check among Democrats who will play leading roles in the convention reveals no sectional or personal opposition to Symington.

. He is well thought of by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate majority leader and Senator Earl Clements of Kentucky, assistant majority leader, both of whom will have an influential voice in the selection of the Vice Presidential candidate.

3. He would be highly acceptable to former President Truman, in whose administration he was the first Secretary of Air Force. Having been a candidate for Vice President himself in 1944, Truman's sentiment would logically be for a man from his own state of Missouri.

4. He has his own campaign issue — the charge that the Eisenhower administration has failed to keep ahead of Russia in building an Air Force — at a time when the Democratic party needs issues which will command the attention of voters.

5. He has an attractive personality, good looks, and is a better than average speaker.

All of these reasons have been cited by several important Democrats, other than Senators Johnson and Clements, of whom some will be in the huddle which will submit a list of vice-presidential possibilities to the nominee. There have been well authenticated reports, that Stevenson has given his approval to Symington, though he must withhold it until he himself has been nominated.

This is a logical year in which to name a candidate from a border state, since the understanding here is that the deep South will not have a vice presidential candidate. His position on desegregation — that each state should work the situation out in its own way — conforms to recent actions by several southern states, to the effect that they intend to do just that.

Democratic leaders are sitting back and enjoying the red hot discussion in the Republican party over the attempt of Harold E. Stassen to purge Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The observation overheard here in Washington is "Leave us not get into any rumpus like that".

An old political precept is that "a vice presidential nominee can't help a national ticket much, but he can hurt it quite a lot." At this stage in national affairs, with the electorate alerted to the possibility that a Vice President may succeed the President over night, as a result of President Eisenhower's physical condition, the spotlight will play on the vice presidential nominee of the Democratic party, just as it has been on the second place nominee of the Republican party.

Symington's chief rival may be Senator Albert Gore of Tennessee, who like Symington is serving his first term in the Senate, and has an outstanding record. He will be 50 this year, while Symington is 55. But between them, Stevenson is reported to lean more to Symington than to Gore.

Symington also has an interstate record which might help get votes in Massachusetts, where he was born, and in Maryland, where he grew up.

The Symington appeal among Democrats who have participated in discussions about the most desirable vice presidential nominee is summed up this way:

"Stu Symington had nationwide publicity as the best compromise candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination; O. K., why doesn't that make him the best compromise candidate for second place, since there's not going to be any compromise for first?"

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Should Marcia listen to Dr. Tom or follow her mother's advice? Study this case carefully for it teems with psychological problems. And never run into a foolish marriage just to escape an unhappy home life. For two wrongs don't make a right. So shop carefully before you say "I do".

Case S-330: Dr. Tom, aged 29, is a successful professional man.

"Dr. Crane, I need some personal counsel immediately," he began.

"I'm now very much in love with a girl named Marcia, aged 32, who is a very lovely person.

We have dated for a year and plan to marry.

"But her mother raises the roof and refuses to hear of such a crazy idea, to use her own language.

"The mother is able-bodied and only 53 years old, but she indulges in a lot of self-pity, and is excessively dominating and possessive.

"It is a wonder Marcia ever tore herself away from her dictatorial mother, for the latter rules with an iron hand.

"Now do you think we could be happy if we married and settled down in the city where I practice, which is just 35 miles from her mother?"

Tactfully call the bully's bluff.

Dr. Tom and his sweetheart have much in common. They belong to the same church and are active therein, which is a topnotch asset for happy marriage.

They have an interest in the same hobbies and want children. They are mature enough to make excellent mates.

Both have worked and budgeted their money for years. And they love each other. So I urged Dr. Tom to marry his sweetheart at once.

If the girl's mother still refuses to compromise and if tactful use of honest compliments avail nothing, then elope.

In dealing with any bully, whether on the children's playground or among older adults, be calm but firm.

Tactfully call the bully's bluff. Don't give an inch or the bully will take a mile, as the old adage goes. But bullies are usually cowardly at heart, so try to solve the problem by diplomacy whenever you can. Analyze their personalities carefully.

Dr. Tom is dealing with a tyrant who may be potentially very shy. That's probably why this mother has so few friends that she now feels panicky at the devastating thought she may be deserted by her daughter.

This problem should have been solved many years earlier by having the mother join the COMPLIMENT CLUB and win many friends.

She should have become active in church and Campfire Girls or other constructive Women's Club activities.

And she should have had a job. An able-bodied widow of 53 has no excuse to be idle. Either she should be spending 35 to 40 hours per week in an office or factory job.

Or she should be devoting long hours to civic and religious organizations. But Dr. Tom's prospective mother-in-law sits at home, with few friends and just keeps house for her daughter. That's not a big enough job for any healthy woman.

Here is a good instance where a Scientific Dating Bureau would have eliminated needless quarreling and heartache.

For if this 53-year-old widow had remarried 10 years ago when her husband died, she'd not need Marcia as a lackey and slave to flatter her maternal vanity.

You young people must realize that when you have passed the age of 21 and have chosen wisely, than you SHOULD marry.

If your domineering parents selfishly wish to keep you forever as slaves to their whims, state your case very clearly.

All good parents are supposed to prepare their children for happy marriage and even p u s h the fledglings out of the nest. Tell them that. Be frank but courteous.

conditions, such as the wind and the tide.

14. The phrase: "people who ARE celebrities" is unnecessarily labored. CELEBRITIES, and people who APE them, usually dress well.

19. EVERY NEWSpaper has certain characteristics, but many an ordinary writing or wrapping paper is quite uncharacteristic. EMERY paper quite definitely has certain characteristics.

23. You wouldn't use a HOD that was split. For one thing it might be dangerous. A split in a fishing ROD might well be of little consequence.

24. "A man who's BEEN on the stage" could be ANY type of performer. Being "KEEN on the stage" implies an interest in the legitimate theatre, and gives a far stronger link with the possibility of quoting Shakespeare. SEEN is not favored.

CLUES DOWN:

1. An AMBITIOUS man surely ALWAYS has SOME responsibilities. He "LIKES", if he can get it, to have SOLE responsibility.

2. An efficient, businesslike person believes in getting on with the job, and any ordinary efficient PEN will do. He is likely to want the BEST type of MEN, of course.

4. Although in many cases he will be quite happy to use a SLIGHTLY dusty lens, he "LIKES" it to be perfectly CLEAN. He DEMANDS that it be perfectly CLEAR, not misted, and would not buy or use a camera with a misted lens.

7. Whether he is LONELY, or making friends, depends on TEMPERAMENT. Whether or not he has a LOVELY time depends on CIRCUMSTANCES. Also, "LOVELY" is hardly the word to describe army life.

15. Every one agrees it is a good SEASON for giving. The sales figures prove it. Everyone does not agree that Christmas is a good REASON for giving. Many think otherwise.

17. A cheery WARD, yes. WORD does not fit the clue wording as well since the clue says "patients". One WORD might cheer one patient. It would require cheery WORDS (plural) for patients.

18. The SKATES merely make the marks; it is the SKATER who goes away afterwards and "leaves" them.

20. It is YOU that will suffer from the bitter weather, not your COLD. COLT is satisfactory.

22. The simple statement of the clue matches perfectly with TON, which is simply "a certain quantity." A TIN of anything is not "a certain quantity," it is only "a certain quantity IN A TIN".

United Givers Agencies Plan Is Considered

Lee Vanderpool, chairman of the quota and membership committee of the United Givers Fund, announced yesterday at a board meeting that plans for the inclusion of agencies in the Fund have been under consideration.

He said that 16 organizations carried on separate drives in the Monroe area last year. This would be eliminated with the United Fund.

Vanderpool announced that three sub-committees would work with each of the agencies involved towards reaching an agreement on their inclusion in the United Givers Fund Campaign and on their budget for the following year.

This committee expects to complete all agreements in the next three weeks at which time the goal for the United Givers Fund will be announced.

Development Of Personality Is Theme Of Speech

Moulding a personality is a God given trust, Mrs. Austin Miller told the Parent - Teacher Leadership Conference in Friday's session at Northeast State. The speaker devoted the last in a series of lectures on child development to affectional and self, or personality, growth.

Parents and schools must work to make children see themselves as successful individuals and as valuing those qualities which our culture values, she said.

Children, just as adults, form pictures of themselves, Mrs. Miller explained. She added, "We may have conflicting concepts of ourselves, and concepts others hold may be in conflict with ours."

All behavior is an expression of something to the individual, the speaker explained, and the concept of self must change if behavior is to change. Through time an individual finds new values which gradually change his actions.

It is important to consider that each person has a private world, Mrs. Miller reminded the group. Physical heritage and experiences combine to make one different.

Pointing to affection as a big factor in child development, Mrs. Miller considered love as both a physical and emotional need.

Security, an essential in proper child growth, is built on the feeling of being loved, valued and supported, she said. Security will make the child feel at home in the world. He will be himself and still be valued. It will also cause him to face and conquer handicaps and enter new situations with poise.

Teachers cannot persuade parents to love their children and they cannot feel genuine love for 35 new pupils each year, the speaker declared. Teachers can, however, see that the school becomes an emotional oasis for the child who lacks the security of affection at home. Understanding and finding good in the pupil will gradually build reassurance for him. "This does not mean that the teacher condones bad behavior. It means that the teacher shows love for the child at the same time that he rejects improper action."

Just to know that somebody cares affects the entire being, Mrs. Miller said. "If the child realizes that he is valued he feels that he is important to someone."

Executives Of Westinghouse In Visit To Monroe

Several Westinghouse executives were in Monroe yesterday to talk with dealers about cooperating in a national advertising campaign to be carried on during the Republican and Democratic political conventions. Westinghouse, it was explained, will sponsor radio and television network coverage of the events.

Heading the visiting group was J. H. Reifenberg, chief engineer for Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Mansfield, Ohio. With him were C. W. Heath, district manager for Westinghouse Electric Supply Company, Shreveport, and Cheney Thompson, territory manager for Westinghouse Electrical Supply in Shreveport. They were guests of Pete Haddad of Haddad's Hardware and Sporting Goods store, oldest Westinghouse dealer in northeast Louisiana.

Haddad, a key dealer in the area for the corporation, said that his business had increased about 18 per cent since last year. The Westinghouse dealer in West Monroe is Johnny Adams, owner of Modern Furniture and Appliance.

Reifenberg said that throughout the country about 133 representatives of the corporation are working on advertising tie-in promotion in connection with the political conventions.

What America Expects Of Its Garden Clubs

The National Council of Federated Garden Clubs is comprised of a half million members engaged in a Better Citizens movement. Only in America is such a thing possible. It is a volunteer movement for creating living beauty in our communities, on our streets, roadsides, and highways.

There are three ways of achieving the lofty aims of this organization:

First, through flower shows, which are free and wide participation is always urged. Through this medium we are inspired and instructed in the ways and means of growing and using our plant material.

Second, through promotion and education. This avenue leads us to improve our knowledge of plant material, methods of pruning, transplanting, propogation, garden design, and the organization of children's groups through which these things can be passed on. The public interest may be aroused through newspaper articles, starting of small botanical gardens in our communities, and help secured from established botanical gardens, our colleges and universities. Slogans are also effective ways of incurring public interest, for example, "Don't Be a Litter Bug." This little slogan alone has started a national movement against litter on our public roads and highways.

Third, through the study and practice of conservation. In this field, the future challenges us. The recent dust storms are a solemn warning to us of what results we can expect from bad conversation practices. Even though men are usually responsible for the major bad conservation practices such as tree destruction and excessive plowing, women cannot afford to ignore the situation. They have to live with the results. They can at least call attention to the hazards of bad conservation practices and surely they can teach their children that trees are not alone beautiful, they are necessary to our very existence. That we have an over abundance of open land and the wise man will nurture and replenish it to make it more productive instead of draining every swamp and clearing every acre of wood land in order to secure richer soil for more profitable crops.

There is much garden clubs can do to make this a more beautiful and profitable land. Arranging flowers is the very least of it. It is only the beginning, in fact.

WRITTEN PERMITTION

MARION, S.C. (AP) — The product known as "canned heat," which some people consume for the alcoholic effect, cannot be sold here unless the buyer presents a written permit from the mayor, city clerk or chief of police.

NEW CAMPUS LOOK . . . Empire costume in men's wear flannel, with high-waisted dress and brief velvet-collared jacket.

HOODED CLASSIC . . . Tops with the campus crowd is the clutch coat with hood-collar, in cashmere weave; push-up sleeves.

LADYLIKE LOOK . . . Directoire silhouette in wool jersey with contrasting jewel trimmed bolero. A junior fashion.

Coeds Take To Directoire Look

Smart coeds will go back to school this fall looking much more elegant and feminine than they have in lo, these many years.

The new "fair lady" look of fashion seems to have accomplished what the combined efforts of teachers, parents and fashion writers have failed to do until now — take college girls out of blue jeans and into feminine clothes.

Of course there will be some diehards, especially among Eastern women's colleges, but the majority of college girls throughout the country will welcome a return to flattering ladylike clothes this fall.

The Directoire look is important in campus styles as it is throughout the entire fall fashion lineup. You identify it immediately in the placement of the waistline, high under the bosom; in the slender skirt animated with panels and easy drapery; in the new dimension of hats, the tapered-toe shoes, the prevalence of hoods.

Being in constant touch with the fashion moods of the young, St. Louis designers spotlight the new romantic feeling in their collections of junior styles for fall. There's a new softness and elegance to dresses and suits, a new feminine air to everything except strictly casual sports clothes.

In the last category, the "Ivy League" look is the thing, apparent in separates and coordinates with styling borrowed from the boys. It is identified by the narrow-lapel box jackets and blazers, Bermuda shorts with buckles in back, dark striped boy shirts and even caps.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Questions Concerning The Marathon Are Answered

This week I have been printing some letters from Marathon winners. Marathon, a planned 8-week routine for loss of weight and general improvement, is printed each January. For one week the following summer I pass along a few of these "success letters" in the hope that any of you who have been procrastinating about self-improvement may "reform."

When you have a definite routine for a definite length of time and know what you can accomplish in that length of time it reinforces the will power. Today I want to answer a few questions from readers who have been following Marathon.

Q. "Can I continue this routine, or rather, repeat it?"

A. Yes. You can continue holding your calorie count to 1400 a day until you reach your correct weight

Q. "I have lost inches from my overlarge hips and abdomen. Will I have to keep up the exercises in order to keep my measurements the same?"

A. Bulging measurements come from overweight, lax muscles and fat which accumulates more readlily over inactive muscles. Therefore you would be wise to continue your exercises. They are good for you anyway. You may do them less often if you wish.

Q. "I know you have often written about this in your column but will you repeat the daily diet essentials for health?"

A. At least two glasses of milk, some whole grain product, lean meat or fish or fowl, citrus fruit or fruit juice or both, two fresh vegetables, (green or yellow are best), some fresh fruit. One egg a day is preferable but you should have at least five a week. The baked potato is a splendid form of starch and is low in calorie count if you do not add too much butter.

You need some fat and carbohydrates in your diet but the reducing woman should cut fats and carbohydrates and build up on proteins and minerals and vitamins.

..Q. "Every year I join your Marathon in January and lose what I want to, between 15 and 20 pounds. Then I gradually gain it back and have to do it all over again the next January How can I avoid this and why does this happen?"

..A. It happens because you allow yourself to slip back into your old eating habits. You should increase your calorie intake after you have reached your correct weight. However, once you forget the attitude of dieting you are likely to again indulge in the rich foods you ate as a habit before. Also you may increase amounts of food more than you realize.

Add a few hundred calories to your daily intake. Watch the scales. If you continue to lose increase calories, if you gain, cut back.

If you wish to keep your correct weight I think it is essential to continue counting calories for a while even though your daily, allowance is greater.

If you would like to have my 8 - week Self - Improvement Marathon booklet to help you get ready for fall clothes send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Public Hearing On Cadeville Oil Field Slated Here

A public hearing on the Cadeville oil field, in Ouachita parish, for the purpose of establishing rules governing the field, will be held at Hotel Virginia in Monroe, beginning at 9 a.m., September 6.

This announcement was received here Friday by Duncan S. Cook, head of the minerals division of the Monroe area of the state conservation department, from John B. Hussey, commissioner of the department of conservation.

The two completed wells in the Cadeville field have produced a total of 63,000 barrels of oil, Cook said. The discovery well, Golson No. 1, section 19, 17 north, range 2 east, was drilled by Zach Brooks of El Dorado, Ark., and was completed April 23, 1955, but was not put on production until July 18, 1955. The second well, Golson A-1, was completed Oct. 9, 1955.

The Cadeville sand in the Cadeville field is defined as sand encountered between 9730 and 9744 feet.

Questions to be decided at the hearing were listed as follows:

1. To establish temporary rules and regulations governing the exploration for and the production of all hydro-carbons from the Cadeville sand.

2. To establish a pattern of development units and to force pool and integrate all separately owned tracts and property interests within each unit so created.

3. To grant increased allowables as an exception to the statewide depth bracket allowable formula to all producing wells during the temporary period that the development units are in effect.

4. To approve the location of existing wells as unit wells and to provide for a system of staggered locations for future wells in undrilled units.

5. To provide for the calling of a formal hearing, after legal notice, within a period to be specified by the commissioner for the purpose of establishing permanent drilling units for the reservoir.

Howard F. Jackson Called Outstanding

Howard F. Jackson, a member of the electronics facility, U. S. naval reserve in Monroe, has been named by the commanding officer of the USS Eunice as the outstanding reservist on a two-week cruise to Miami, Fla., July 8-21.

Jackson was selected for the honor by his instructors, shipmates and officers, the ship commander said.

Selection was made on the basis of performance of duty, interest shown, military bearing and conduct, and demonstration of knowledge.

Oils Falter As Stock Market Shows Setback

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP) — Oils faltered once more today as the Suez crisis dominated the international scene and touched off a setback of minor proportions in the stock market.

The market was irregular in the morning but as oils deepened their initial losses the mood became catching and other issues settled back.

The performance interrupted a gradual approach to the all-time record highs of April.

Except for international oils with their heavy interests in the Near East, pivotal stocks confined losses generally within a 2-point range.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents to $190.90 — leaving it 60 cents below the all-time high reached on April 6. The industrial component was down 40 cents while both the rails and the utilities were unchanged.

Volume toaled 2,210,000 shares compared with 2,530,000 yesterday.

U.S. government bonds declined in the over the counter market.

Dodge-Plymouth Dealership On Louisville Opens

Appointment of Monroe Auto Mart, Inc. to a new Dodge-Plymouth dealership here was announced in Detroit Friday by Byron J. Nichols, vice - president and general sales manager of Dodge division, Chrysler corporation.

Located at 2220 Louisville avenue, the new firm is now open for business with a complete showing of 1956 Dodge and Plymouth cars.

An invitation to local residents to visit the new showroom has been issued by Monroe Auto Mart management, J. E. Farmar and brother, Hal Farmar. On display will be various models of the 1956 line of Dodge and Plymouth passenger cars in all the newest colors and possessing the latest equipment for smooth operation and safe driving.

"Dodge and Plymouth cars are exciting this year," Mr. Farmar said. "The new push - button control, improved power brakes and power steering have already captured the imagination of motorists everywhere."

The revolutionary "Magic Touch' push - button drive selector, which Dodge introduced for the first time, completely eliminated the necessity for any kind of gearshift or drive control lever, he declared. Women drivers, in particular, are enthusiastic about this feature, as well as about the new safety door latch and other improvements which make driving more of a pleasure than ever before.

New styling, new upholstery fabrics, a high - fidelity record player — first in the industry — and new engines developing up to 230 horsepower are other significant features of the new Dodge.

The new dealership here also will have a complete service department for Dodge and Plymouth cars, equipped with the most modern tools and machinery, and which will be staffed by mechanics trained in factory methods for prompt and efficient car service of all kinds. The Farmer Brothers have been in the automobile business in Monroe for many years where they operate a successful used car business.

Start Man Will Go To Conference

T. G. Burch, of Start, member of the executive committee, will attend the eighth annual conference of the Louisiana Vocational Association in Lafayette, August 6-9, announced A. E. Robinson, assistant superintendent for vocational education, state department of education.

State Superintendent of Public Education Shelby M. Jackson noted the outstanding progress Louisiana has made in vocational education and commended all departments in the association for their contributions.

The executive committee will be in session at various times during the conference for the purpose of study, evaluation, and planning. Coordination of this program and future conferences will be high on the agenda.

DEAD END

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Truck drivers following State Route 53 signs complained to police they were winding up in a dead-end street.

Police found jokesters had changed the signs and drivers were winding up in Riverview Cemetery at the end of W. Third St.

Colvin Re-Union Slated Saturday At Fellowship

RUSTON, Aug. 3 (Special) —A reunion of an old north Louisiana family will be held Saturday at Fellowship Baptist church three miles northeast of Dubach. It will be the annual get together of Daniel Colvin's descendants.

The first Colvin to come to Louisiana was Daniel Colvin, who came in 1809 from Chester, Carolina. He settled near Vienna, Louisiana and was followed in later years by eight Colvin brothers and their mother, Jemina Petrie Colvin.

These eight brothers settled in and around Unionville, Vienna and on toward the Claiborne parish line. They all had large families. This accounts for the fact that not many towns, villages or rural communities in this section of north Louisiana is without a Colvin as a resident.

The first reunion was held in August, 1916, and with the exception of a few years during and right after World War Two, there has been a reunion each year. It is memorable day in this big family and many friends look forward to it from year to year.

The day begins about 10 a.m. with the gathering of "the clan." A program is held in the church with the assistance of a public address system for those outside the church. Music, the roll call of families, a period of meditation in memory of those who have departed since the last reunion, a business session, and an inspirational address by some outstanding speaker are included in the program.

The afternoon is free for "mixing and mingling," a period of fellowship that lasts into the late afternoon or evening.

A basket lunch is served at noon on the church lawn.

The speaker for the 1956 reunion will be Dr. John A. Cawthorn of the Louisiana Tech faculty.

"Dr. Cawthorn's interest and knowledge in Louisiana history gives him a closer tie to the family through the "Colvin history," which has been and is still being compiled. We are happy to have Dr. Cawthorn and feel sure that everyone who hears him will enjoy his adderess." says C. W. Colvin.

WAY TO MEET JUDGE

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — While Helena Mayor Otto Brackman was away on vacation, K. V. Ingersoll was appointed a police judge and the two never met until.

Mayor Brackman got an overtime parking ticket and a summons to the judge. The mayor paid his $1 fine, saying: "We've never met before and I thought I would come in and shake your hand as well as pay my fine."

Radio Station In West Monroe To Go On Air Today

KUZN radio station will celebrate its opening offficially at 10 a. m. Saturday by presenting on the air a number of local officials of the Twin Cities.

Representative Otto Passman, A. O. Evans, president of the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Jack Howard of Monroe and other dignitaries will be present.

Mayor Allan Norris is out of town on a well deserved vacation, it was reported.

The station is located in the 200 block of Trenton street, West Monroe, and will operate on 1000 watts on 1310 kilocicles.

Spunky Flat Frolics will be one of the feature programs presented each week day between 1:00 and 2:00 by George Lester and Uncle Ed. It will be an entertaining hillbilly show with some of the top stars of the hillbilly field appearing on the show from time to time.

Jorge Mack, announcer, has a wide knowledge of music and knows the music that appeals to the young - in - heart. His program, "Teen - Time, Tune - Time" will be featured each day between 4:00 and 5:00 p. m.

Other features will be "Morning Stars," "Devotionals," "Gospel and "Ouachita Valley Time."

Howard Griffith is the owner-manager of the new station, George Lester and Jorge Mack are the announcers and the staff is composed of experienced personnel.

MISSING COOKIE JAR

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) Dayton police, unable to find a crumb of evidence in the case of the missing cookie jar containing $900, were about ready to give up when they got a call from the jar's owner.

She sheepishly admitted getting out of bed one night to put the jar where no one could find it. No one did, until the woman cleaned behind a chair.

NEW YORK Confidential

Don't Call Me Madame: Though still an American citizen Anglophile Doug was knighted by the King in 1949. (He's one of 67 Americans so "honored" and they include Ike, Gen. MacArthur, Gen. Marshall, Henry Morgenthau and Winthrop Aldrich.) English papers frequently call him "Sir" Douglas. Mrs. Fairbanks insists on being addressed as "Lady" Fairbanks, otherwise she buys elsewhere, though frequently some of the salesladies who wait on her in smart shops are themselves daughters of high-ranking peers, and therefore legitimately entitled to be called "Lady" . . . Meanwhile, reports from England indicate all is not well in the Fairbanks' knightly manse. Mrs. Lady Fairbanks bought a pair of white homing pigeons at a charity garden party the other day. "I'm longing to hand them over to Doublas," she was overheard to tell her intimate friend. "It's high time I gave him the bird."

Pomp and Plenty of Circumstances: Should the deal go through for Doug Fairbanks Jr. to become royal public relations officer to "rehabilitate" the falling prestige of the British throne, viz the antics of Edinburgh, Kent, Margaret and Alexandra, it will not be his first job of royal face-saving. It's in the secret archives that when Doug was in U. S. Navy Psychological Warfare he prepared the preamble to the draft declaration of the Japanese surrender terms at the Potsdam Conference. This permitted the Japs to keep their Emperor!

I've Got To Write It, But I Don't Have to Read It: The Ben Gazzara divorce finally in the works and Elaine Stritch is counting the days . . . Liberace's brother George fiddles on a darling white mink-covered violin. Just too cute for words . . . Rhonda Fleming tried a Lake Tahoe reconciliation with Dr. Lew Morrill but no go. Poor Lew . . . Susan Fonda and Armando Orsini (an ex-Mr. Lili St. Cyr are marriage minded . . . Susan Hayward and movie exec Stan Osgood are goodie goodie and that's good . . . Barbara Bel Geddes squelched the rumors when she joined Windsor Lewis in Paris . . . Jane Wyman's 18-year-old daughter, a real beaut, wants an acting career and my how time flies. What a young - looking mother!

You Figure It Out, I'm Tired: Prince Bernie of the Netherlands just bought a house in England. It's so hush hush even the Dutch embassy doesn't know its location. Princie also acquired a coffee plantation in Tanganyika where he plans to take his daughters this winter. But what became of Queen Juliana?

Some Dissa, No Data: Nora Haymes and Jim Black living it up . . . Cathy O'Brien (wife of editor Sterling Noel) is appearing with Rudy Vallee in "Jenny Kissed Me" at the John Drew Theatre in Easthampton . . . Oh, no. Say it ain't so: Diana Dors' new wardrobe is all high necklines . . . Damon Runyon Fund just got 345th and 346th bequests from wills of Daisy R. Weill and Leonard R. Van Nostrand. Fraternal Order of Eagles contributed $775,000 in six years. Very swell . . . Karl Malden's emoting in "Baby Doll" is Academy Award stuff. So there! . . . Comic Don Tannen booked into London's Savoy figuring it's the best way to get on an American TV show.

The Mortimer the Merrier: Bernarr MacFadden's widder confiding to the Maharajah of Baroda that she thinks he's "so o-o interesting." He's got more jewels than Bernarr had muscles . . . Young Mike "Al Smith" Kenny who's running for state senate in Westchester, has a slogan that's bound to elect hm in this staunch American community. It's "Down with Reds and Taxes." How can he lose? . . . Romans are saying that Countess Madina Arrivabene is the secret bride of Pietro Meli. He's the guy who bounced one off a copper's beezer outside Brenda Frazier's Park Ave. apartment two years ago.

Add Good Neighbor Policy: Vic Mature flew to London to do a picture and while unpacking discovered he had packed all coats, no pants.

Jena Adventists Seek Oldest Bible

JENA, Aug. 3 (Special) — A search was launched in this area this week for the oldest Bible in anyone's possession, according to W. H. Westermeyer of the Seventh Day Adventist church, which is at present conducting a tent revival on the church's grounds at Georgetown.

Between now and Aug. 11, persons in this area are invited to bring their old Bibles to the tent revival and register the date of publication. The Bible is retained in the possession of the owner and may be taken back home once the date of publication is registered.

On Aug. 11, the church will present to the owner of the oldest Bible a brand new gold bound volume, in token of their ownership of the oldest Bible registered.

Yesterday's Answer

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

B G J L T G J G Y Z V Y T T J 2 , K W
T J J C J Z M K O J W G J N J Y T K L R I A
J D F Q K T K W J C Q T K N — M I L R A J M M I B .

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: MONEY, THOU BANE OF BLISS AND SCOURCE OF WOE—HERBERT.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Rebels Edge Sports, 4 To 3; Play Two Here Tonight

Meador's Single In Ninth Inning Defeats Monroe

Bobby Meador's ninth inning single scored Nickey LaNasa tonight to give the Baton Rouge Rebels a 4-3 Evangeline League victory over the Monroe Sports.

LaNasa had tripled to set up the winning blow.

Baton Rouge used three hurlers, with the victory going to Gene Derwinski.

Monroe got a temporary 3-1 lead in the fourth inning with three straight hits. Rod Kanehl led with a single, Keith Mitchell got a triple, and Jim Johnston hit a home run.

The scene shifts to Monroe Saturday night where the Rebels and Sports meet in a double header, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Cardinals Check Dodgers' March In 12th, 11 To 8

BROOKLYN, Aug. 3 (AP)—Walker Cooper, whose home run had helped build up a six-run St. Louis lead, slammed a two-run single off the right field wall in the 12th inning tonight to give the Cardinals an 11-8 victory over the third place Brooklyn Dodgers. It was the sixth straight success for the Cards, while ending Brooklyn's winning string at three.

South All-Stars Whip North Prep Aces, 33-0

By WARNER RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 3 (AP)—The South parlayed power, passing and a rock-ribbed defense into a 33-0 rout of the North tonight in the 19th annual Louisiana High School All-Star football game.

With some 10,000 fans roaring their approval in Louisiana State's stadium, Baton Rouge boys led the South as it crunched for touchdowns in the first and second quarter, added two more in the third and a final tally in the fourth.

Fabulous Billy Cannon, Istrouma's high-scoring fullback headed for LSU, scored in the second period on a 50-yard sprint, kicked three conversions in five tries and played a brilliant defensive game. Istrouma coach James (Fuzzy) Brown kept Cannon under wraps in the second half, playing him mostly on defense as the second offensive unit got the last two touchdowns.

Quarterback Warren Rabb of Baton Rouge High passed 32 yards to end Gus Kinchen, a teammate, for a third period touchdown and showed a flair for quarterback in his first try at the position. Rabb, a tailback at Baton Rouge, and Kinchen are both headed for LSU.

Second string quarterback B. L. Fairchild of Istrouma tossed for the last two touchdowns. He hit end Paul Sharp of Hammond for a seven-yard strike in the third quarter and tallied again in the fourth on a 13-yard toss to halfback Jim Magee of Morgan City.

Halfback Johnny Robinson of University High here, touched off the South scoring with a two-yard plunge in the first quarter. He set it up by taking a 59-yard pass from Rabb.

Quarterback Frank Pernici of Byrd provided what offense the North had, mainly on his split-T ball-carrying and sharp passing. With Pernici leading the way, the North drove 50 yards to the South 21 in the first quarter. A third period North drive fizzled on the South 7.

South	6	6	14	7	33

South scoring, touchdowns, Robinson (2, plunge), Cannon (50, run), Kinchen (32, pass from Rabb), Sharp (7, pass from Fairchild), Magee (13, pass from Fairchild). Conversions, Cannon 3.

Trinity won the championship of the Junior League last night by walloping L.T.I., 21-4, as Perkins pitched and batted his team to victory. Perkins hit 2-for-3. His catcher was Chapman. The losing battery was Parker and Metcalfe.

First Christian threw the finals of the Church "C" League into a deadlock by shading Brownville Methodist, 12-11. Max Wroten and Tommy Edwards was the winning battery. Pepper and Fleming shared the pitching for the losers with Shell catching. Pinton homered for Brownville.

The West Monroe Baptist beat Temple Baptist, 7-4, in the opening game of the Church "A" semi-finals. DuPriest, the winning pitcher, hurled a three-hitter. Bedgood led West Monroe with 2 for 3.

Ferriday Knocks West Monroe Out Of Tourney

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 3 (Special) — Winnsboro, Ferriday, and Houma remained tonight to fight it out Saturday for the Little Boys League state championship after West Monroe Southside had been eliminated tonight by Ferriday, 6-2, in this double - elimination tournament. Winnsboro, which beat West Monroe and Ferriday, earlier in the week, remained the only unbeaten club by handing Houma its first loss this morning, 6-3.

Tommy Massey's three-run homer in the third inning was Ferriday's big blow against West Monroe as Danny Walker was hurling the victory with a six-hitter. William Spinks and Billy Doerner shared eight-hit pitching for West Monroe. Howard Rogillio and Roy Glen Cotton led Ferriday hitting, each with two singles. Wayne Hardwick and David Martin each socked a double and a single for West Monroe.

Winnsboro collected ten hits in beating Houma with John Rayford socking 3-for-3, and Danny Magee, Jim Jones, and Matthew Walker each getting 2-for-3, one of Magee's going for the circuit. Kermit Burnside and Manuel Canales shared six-hit pitching for the winners.

Ferriday and Houma play Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock with the winner to face unbeaten Winnsboro Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock for the state title. Should Winnsboro lose its next start, the same clubs in tomorrow evening's scrap will come back Monday night to settle the issue.

Lennon Motors	1	8	.111

The Southside League, which sends its state champion All-Stars to the regional tournament at Marshall, Tex., next week, ended its regular loop schedule here yesterday with KLIC and The Palace deadlocked for first place.

KLIC, first half winner, shut out Lennon Motors, 3-0, on the four-hit pitching of Ed Kincaid who helped his club's cause with a home run. Cupples and Tompkins each got two hits for the winners.

The Palace used seven hits to sock the Jaycees, 11-1, on the two-hit hurling of Gunn who was also his team's top hitter with 2-for-2.

KLIC and The Palace playoff their tie for the second half lead this afternoon at 4 o'clock. A KLIC win would clinch the league championship, but if The Palace wins will immediately play second death to settle crown.

AIR SUPPORT NEEDED

Tulane had the Southeastern Conference's No. 5 rushing offense with a 202.9-yard average last year, but finished 11th in passing offense with an average of only 45.2. Coach Andy Pilney hopes that improved aerial work will make the Greenies more potent this fall.

Mayer Fires Second 69 To Lead Tam Pro Ranks

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 —UP— Dick Mayer, a lanky golf pro from St. Petersburg, Fla., solved Tam O'Shanter's soaked fairways and wet greens for a 69 Friday to take the midway lead in the $25,000 "All American" Open with a total score of 138.

His round gave him a one-stroke margin over Julius Boros, Southern Pines, N.C., who turned in the best round of the day, a 67, for 139. Boros though he has never won the "All American" twice has won the companion "world" tourney and last year earned $106,000 with his victory in the event.

Both Mayer, 32, and Boros, 36, were the most consistent of the field of 152 pros who began Friday's second round. Boros, playing most of his round before a mid-day rainstorm, went over par only once when he missed the green on the 17th, but he knocked home six birdies, three on each nine.

Mayer, whose entire round came after the rain had eased up, likewise was over par only once, on the 14th when he fired his approach over the green, but he had four birdies, three on the last nine.

The first day leaders, Australian Peter Thomson and Argentine Antonio Cerda, each with a first round 67, and Mike Dietz, Lake Orion, Mich., with a 68, fell off the pace. Thomson went one over par with a 73 to share third place, while Cerda slipped to a 75 to deadlock in the mob at 142. Dietz took a 74 to be in there with Cerda.

Four players were grouped at 140, Thomson, Ted Kroll, Bud Holscher and Ed (Porky) Oliver, while at 141 there was a 11-way tie, with Dow Finsterwald, PGA and Masters champion Jack Burke, National Open champion Cary Middlecoff, George Bayer, Ed Furgol, George Fazio, Arnold Palmer, Earl Stewart Jr., Jimmy Demaret, Jack Fleck and Don Addington.

The pro f i e l d was cut to 76 and ties for the final 36 holes and all who fired 148 or better in the first two rounds were eligible to continue.

Patty Berg, a four time winner of the women pro division of the "All American" from Chicago, missed a chance to take over first place when she got a double bogie six on the 18th hole Friday. Her approach was to the right and her first chip was bad. Then she two putted.

Still she finished with a four under par 72, the best women's round, to tie National Open champion Kathy Cornelius, Lake Worth, Fla., for the midway pro lead with a 151 total, one stroke under par. Miss Cornelius toured the course in 74 Friday.

Simmons Hurls Phils In 6-To-3 Defeat Of Reds

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3 (AP) — Lefty Curt Simmons took another big step along the comeback trail tonight as he set down the pennant conscious Cincinnati Redlegs before 28,607 at Connie Mack Stadium. Six hits, including a two - run triple by Willie Jones in a four - run third inning paved the way for a 6-3 triumph by the Philadelphia Phillies.

Ham Richardson, Seixas Win First Davis Cup Events

RYE, N.Y., Aug. 3 (AP) —Davis Cup veterans Vic Seixas and Hamilton Richardson swept to almost identical straight-set singles victories today to send the United States into a 2-0 lead over Mexico in the American Zone tennis final.

Seixas, a peppy, 32 - year - old Philadelphian who seems to thrive with age, chopped down Mario Llamas, Mexico's No. 1 player in the opening match at the Westchester Country Club, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4. Then Richardson, his 22-year-old teammate from Westfield, N. J., polished off young Francisco Contreras, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4.

This put the Yanks in a position to clinch the zone title in the doubles tomorrow when the two junior members of the American team, Sam Giammalva, 22, of Houston, and Barry MacKay, 20, of Dayton, Ohio, go against Llamas and Contreras.

Babe Ruth League

The Cubs swept their second straight playoff victory from the Yanks yesterday, 12-4, to reach the Babe Ruth League championship finals here opposite the Reds who earlier eliminated the Cardinals in their semi-final series.

The Cubs, who won their series opener, 14-4, Thursday, went on a 13-hit spree yesterday with Renwick leading the way with three-for-four while Wayne Works pitched the victory with a seven-hitter, fanning 11. McMillin and Palmer shared Yank pitching with McDonald catching. Cox was Works' batterymate.

The Reds and Cubs open the final series Monday afternoon at a o'clock on the Northeast State diamond.

Legion Juniors Open State Finals

Monroe Machine In New Orleans For Tilt Tonight

The Louisiana championship finals in American Legion Junior baseball opens tonight at New Orleans with the McCain-Richards Motors club of Monroe facing the LaRocca team of New Orleans. The two clubs come to Monroe Tuesday night for the second game of the series, and, if a third game is necessary to decide the titlist, the clubs will also play here Wednesday.

Manager Ralph "Red" Sims departs with his Monroe club this morning and the Ouachita police juror is expected to give Terry Reeves, his unbeaten hurler with a record of nine wins for the season, the opening mound assignment. Jim Altick with a 7-2 mark for the season, is also a possible starter, with young Lewis Kincaid (4-0) also ready for duty.

The McCain - Richards crew doesn't show the high batting averages of Monroe's former state champion Junior Legion clubs, but timely hitting with teamwork has been a key to the success of the Monroe boys so far in rolling up a season record of 22 victories against two defeats.

Marion "Spec" Lewis, third baseman, sports the loudest batting average with .370, closely followed by Bob Groves, first base, with .362, and Dickie Crowe, the long-ball-hitting shortstop, at .328. Outfielder Mickey Yerger is belting the ball at a .319 clip, while pitchers Reeves and Kincaid each show .333 marks. Utility infielder Lannie Johnson is the only other .300 hitter with exactly that mark.

Groves and Yerger also serve as relief pitchers and each has notched one victory during the season.

Jimmy Harwell, who fanned 17 batters in clinching a finals berth by beating Baton Rouge last week, is due to be the starting LaRocca hurler.

Monroe suffered its first defeat in the second game of the season at the hands of a Ruston club that later disbanded and didn't challenge for the district championship The other loss was to Shreveport in the opening bi-district playoffs, but the McCain-Richards came back to take the next two from the Caddo club and then swept two straight from Opelousas to reach the finals opposite New Orleans.

King Trousdale Beaten In Finals Of Girls Tourney

MEMPHIS, Aug. 3 (AP) — Kathy Barnett of Atlanta upset top seeded King Trousdale of Monroe, La., today to win the girl's singles division of the Mississippi Valley Tennis Tournament.

In men's singles play, first seeded George Dunklin, Pine Bluff, Ark., gained the semifinals with a 6-2, 6-2 win over veteran Alex Wellford Sr., of Memphis.

Other results:

Men's Singles (quarterfinals)

Tom Buford, Nashville, defeated Eldon Roark Jr., Memphis, 6-3, 8-6.

Tom Robinson, Baton Rouge, La., defeated Ward Smith, Waco, Tex., 6-2, 6-2.

Gavin Gentry, Memphis, defeated Glen Turpin, Memphis, 6-3, 1-6, 12-10

Junior Singles (semifinals)

Leslie Nicholson, Memphis, defeated Charles Cowart, Atlanta, 6-3, 6-0.

Drayton Nabors, Birmingham, defeated Wilt Straley, Atlanta, 6-4, 6-3.

Boy's Singles (semifinals)

Alex Wellford Jr, Memphis, defeated Don Sweeney, Birmingham, 8-6, 6-0.

Ed Murrey, Nashville, defeated King Stubbs, Monroe, La., 6-3, 6-4.

THIRTY-SIX FRESHMEN

Highlights From The Ticker Tape

Steel rose today with substantial gains from earlier lows on the market. Wheeling Steel gained three points and US Steel hit a new 1956 high. Bethelem registered some gain also with the strike negotiations still in progress. Gulf oil went up more than four points and rallied.

Royal Dutch, Jersey Standard, and Getty Oil, showed gains, as well as Continental, undaunted by the steel strike, went upwards four points.

Industries were off 0.68, as well as stocks, off 0.06; rails and utilities also showed slight gains.

Cotton was steady with substantial gains on distant delivery going upwards more than $1 per bale on short covering plus the fact that the government has taken up more than one million acres in conjunction with the soil bank program, for 1956.

Temperatures were above normal for the Canadian area and West Saskatchewan and below norml elsewhere. Precipiation was heavy except for Manitoba area which was moderate.

Lockheed Aircraft, whose board of directors will meet soon, announced a 60 cents quarterly this was supplemented by a similar dividend in 1955. Production levels were higher with sales declining slightly as sales ending March 31 1956 were $188 million compared to a $190 million a year previous.

A spokesman for US Steelworkers indicated that agreement with US Steel Corporation and subsidiaries is to be signed soon.

Loans to businesses throughout the nation by New York banks rose $48 million in week ending Wednesday according to New York Federal Reserve Bank.

Cotton

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Cotton futures closed steady today and 5 cents a bale lower to 85 cents higher.

Trading was slow, but the market was featured by New Orleans and commission house buying of contracts representing 1957 crop cotton. Purchases of the latter deliveries were based on belief that the soil bank would play a more important part in curbing production next year. This year's operation of the plan was held back by Congress which debated the farm bill until many farmers had already prepared ground for the 1956 crop.

Notwithstanding the lateness, the Department of Agriculture reported up to July 27, the deadline for placing cotton acreage into the soil bank, farmers took 1,063,613 acres out of cotton. In its previous report covering up to July 20, the Department of Agriculture estimated around 725,000 acres were pledged into the soil bank.

Textile mill buying and hedges came into nearby cotton contracts, but these were about evenly divided and prices failed to move far in either direction. The movement of spot cotton in the South was slow.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The average price of middling one inch spot cotton at 14 designated Southern spot markets today was 15 cents a bale lower at 32.96 cents a pound; previous day 32.99; year ago 35.00. Middling 15-16ths inch average was 32.09. Sales 34,311.

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures were irregular today. Hedging and commission house profit taking depressed nearby deliveries. Futures contracts representing 1957 crop cotton, however, were firm on New Orleans and commission house buying.

The Department of Agriculture reported through July 7, the deadline for farmer participation in the soil bank, a total of 1,063,613 acres were taken out of cultivation. This was an increase of slightly more than 35,000 acres since July 20 when the government previously reported on soil bank participation.

Late afternoon prices were 10 cents a bale lower to 50 cents higher than the previous close. October 32.55, December 32.75 and March 32.67.

Prisoner Held Girl Captive; Moved For Safety

APOLLO, Pa., Aug. 3—UP—An ex-convict who lured a nine-year-old girl from a carnival crowd and kept her with him all night was escorted under heavy guard Friday for safekeeping in a stronger jail.

State police ushered the suspect, John Hilty, 53 through a milling, angry group of townsfolk following his capture in a rural shack to climax an all - night search. Hilty stabbed Police Chief Gust Zanos in the hand but was subdued before he could reach for a pistol.

The former convict's victim, Evelyn Fay Cline, was rescued unharmed at 7 a. m. but was in a state of shock. She was found in a locked automobile hidden in a heavy brush near Hilty's shack home.

Hilty who has a 12-year police record, was held here only briefly for fear of violence. Angry townsfolk threatened to "get him and save the trouble of a hearing" before state police arrived and transferred the suspect to Armstrong county jail at nearby Kittanning.

"It looked like touch and go for a while," said Chief Zanos. "More than 100 people were outside. I told them we wanted no violence, that we had to take Hilty out and wanted nobody to try to grab him."

Zanos said one man shouted "we should have gotten our hands on him this morning." But Hilty was transferred to a waiting squad car without further incident

Hilty was charged with assault with attempt to kill and molesting a child. Police also considered abduction charges.

The search for Evelyn started at 1:45 a. m. Friday when the girl's family reported her missing. The family had attended a firemen's carnival and parade Thursday night and Evelyn, who was with a brother, wandered away.

Insurance Group Asks For Hikes To Take Effect

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 3 (AP)—The National Council on Compensation Insurance today asked workmen's compensation rate hikes to take effect as soon as possible to offset added benefits voted by the 1956 Legislature.

An industry spokesman said the increases would primarily affect pulpwood, logging and lumbering and the oil and gas industries and "will in some cases amount to as much as 11 per cent."

The proposed rates were filed with the casualty and surety division of the Louisiana Insurance Rating Commission.

In addition to experience rate changes, the spokesman said, the annual rates filed this year "will reflect statutory rate changes made necessary by increases in the recent Legislature."

The experience rate changes would take effect Dec. 1, but the council asked the statutory rate increase be made retroactive to Aug. 1, the date the new benefits took effect.

The Legislature made the following changes in benefits:

1. Upped maximum weekly benefits from $30 to $35.
2. Increased minimum weekly benefits from $3 to $10.
3. Increased duration of payments for fatalities from 300 to 400 weeks.
4. Doubled burial expense allowances from $300 to $600.
5. Increased maximum medical expenses from $1,000 to $2,500.

Benefit Dinner Set By Knights Council

Knights of Columbus Council 3642 of West Monroe will sponsor a Southern Fried Chicken Dinner on August 5, 1956 starting at 11:00 a.m., at Palowsky's Supper Club, DeSiard Road in Monroe. The proceeds will be diverted into the building fund.

The members of the council and their wives will serve on the various work committees, with an aim of giving the best possible service.

Services Scheduled For Accident Victim

The funeral of Henry Peevy who was accidentally killed Sunday, July 29, at about 12:00 by a falling stick of pulp wood will be held at 2:00 p.m., Sunday, August 5, at his home church, Macedonia, near Choudrant. Henry had worked for the West Monroe paper mill since February 1934.

CHURCH PARKING

COLUMBIA, S C. (AP) — Sunday churchgoers filled a parking lot with their cars and late-comers parked in the middle, over the "no parking" signs painted on the driveways.

Police soon were on hand, tagging the wrongly parked cars.

But as Traffic Sgt. T. E. Strickland opened a car door to leave a tag he realized someone had left something there before him.

On the car seat was a note reading: "You went to church, but I couldn't — because you had me blocked in."

Leukemia Victim May Be Taken To 'Faith Healer'

COLUMBUS, Miss., Aug. 3 (AP)—Mrs. Sidney Hollis said today she may take her leukemia-stricken son Alton to a "faith healer" at Shreveport, La.

"Life is slipping from the 9-year-old boy. Lifegiving blood given him at Doster Hospital by transfusion is quickly lost through his bleeding.

Mrs. Hollis, wife of a dairy farmer at nearby Louisville, got the idea of taking the boy to Shreveport from the Rev. Frank Crawford, who prayed over Alton today.

Rev. Crawford, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church at Starkville, said the Evangelist holding a revival at Shreveport is a man he met recently at Indianapolis, Ind. He identified the Evangelist as Rev. William Branham.

"Hundreds of miracles have taken place in his services," said Rev. Crawford. "I mentioned his name to Mrs. Hollis.

"They're not sure they will take him. They plan to wait until tomorrow to see if he is improved. He stopped bleeding at the mouth today while I was praying over him. They think he's improving.

Spokesmen at the hospital had said this morning the boy's condition is unchanged, although he sat up in a wheelchair today and yesterday had his first solid food in three days—corn on the cob.

Mrs. Hollis disclosed that, at the urging of friends, she permitted Alton to have a "birthday party" in his hospital room Wednesday although he won't be 10 until Aug. 11. Friends feared the boy would not survive until his birthday.

The birthday party, and especially a colorful cowboy suit and shiny guns given him, no doubt boosted Alton's morale. Alton also has been given a TV set, air rifle, and other gifts by well-wishers.

Orient's Answer To Marilyn Visits Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—UP—With Congress out of town and the political conventions still 10 days off, the capital may have needed something like Li Li-Hwa to fill the vacuum.

Miss Li, the Orient's answer to Marilyn Monroe, arrived Friday to do a little advance lobbying for her first American movie. She had no trouble lining up a quorum of admirers.

One was the policeman who encountered the Chinese movie queen as she and a friend, Mrs. Richard McCarthy, were trying to find their way into Washington.

"Exactly what happened on the road was obscured by Miss Li's faltering use of the English language. But she got the point across.

"Everybody is so polite," she said. "Even the policemen!"

There was look of genuine amazement on one of the most famous faces east of Suez. A gush of Chinese followed.

"Everything," Miss Li continued, reverting to English, "so orderly!"

Then came a crash and a newsman sheepishly picked himself off the floor. Leaning in to get a closer look at Miss Li, he had snapped the leg off a coffee table.

Miss Li, who has made more than 60 movies for Far Eastern and south Asian distribution, has been assigned by Cecil B. DeMille, the Hollywood producer, to appear in "The Buccaneer," a musical remake of an old Douglas Fairbanks film.

It's all about New Orleans, the pirate Jean Lafitte, Gen. Andrew Jackson and the British redcoats.

South Needs More Psychiatrists; Southern Board

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Aug. 3 (AP)—Psychiatrists, educators and mental health officials agreed today there was a need for more psychiatrists in the South — and said colleges should help pay for their education.

The Southern Regional Education Board mental health conference adopted a variety of resolutions, many of them technical, as its three day meeting ended.

Tomorrow the Southern Regional Council on Mental Health Training and Research, advisory body to the Southern Regional Education Board, will hold a board meeting to receive a report on the sessions.

Dr. George Ham, head of the Department of Psychiatry of the University of North Carolina, told the delegates a study has shown that 80 per cent of psychiatric students want residency training where analysts are available.

WORTH IT'S SALT?
SURE 'TIS . . . 'cause it's in a splendid location on the Northside (on Auburn in the trees) and it's reasonably priced! And . . . it's a comfortable, well-arranged 1300 sq. feet with: (3) large bedrooms; a stunning 16½'x21' paneled living room; "off-set" dining area; a "dream-of-a" kitchen with breakfast "nook"; central heating; carport and storage and a beautiful 100'x150' lot. Wants' look?
$150 "CASH"
IS ALL IT TAKES on a G.I. loan to move into this "charmer" on VICTORIA STREET! That's all, and look what it buys: 900 sq. feet of floor space! Asbestos siding! Copper plumbing! (2) bedrooms! Nice size kitchen with excellent cabinet space and washer plumbing! $850. "cash" will make the move to a "non-Veteran"! It's vacant!
IT'S ALL HERE . . .
. . . AND A LOT MORE reasonable than you'd expect for such a comfortable and well-located Northside home! "It's all here" . . . (3) 12' x 14' bedrooms (all with huge sliding-door closets); gleaming tile bath; — central heating; wall-to-wall carpeting throughout; fully air-conditioned; well - proportioned living room; unique "U"-shaped kitchen; double carport and beautiful 100' x 150' lot. It's vacant and located on ISLAND DRIVE!
PABLUM FED!
YEP! IT'S BEEN CARED for like a baby and it reflects it in every "nook and cranny"! Here's good value in a (3) bedroom home on the Northside on CIVIC ST. Among it's 1500 sq. feet are: gleaming oak floors; brick construction; a wonderful size living room and a separate dining room; tile bath; enclosed garage; 75' corner lot with cyclone fenced back yard and other features!
PROBLEM SOLVER!
HERE'S A "problem-Solver" if you're the type that desires the roominess of an older home, but yet you'd like all the modern features — it was completely redecorated just a year ago in excellent taste! Among it's 1388 sq. feet of living area you'll find: a wonderful size living room; roomy, separate dining room; central heating; a relaxing screen porch facing east; 2 larger than usual bedrooms (one's 14x16); has attic fan; lifetime roof; asbestos siding and a stunning pine-paneled kitchen with wonderful cabinet space, washer plumbing, lots of breakfast area; roomy pantry. The yard is covered with irreplaceable camellias, azaleas and roses! Wants' look today! It's located on Gordon Ave.
GOT YOUR GOAT?
IT'S LOCATED ON SPENCER ST. Weary of looking at homes on the Northside with a limited amount of floor space and small rooms? Well, if that's the case, take a few minutes today and let us show you this unbelievably large home. Among this one's 2300 sq. feet of living area are the following: 23'x14' living room; a 12x14' dining room, a 15x24' paneled den; a 13x22' kitchen, (3) bedrooms (smallest is 15x13'); beautiful oak floors; (2) baths; a tremendous amount of closet space; 100x150 foot lot and other features. It's vacant!
